A HEAVY LOSS.

Injury to the Popularity of Pullman Palace Cars.

One Certain Result of the Strike and Railway Boycott.

IT WILL BE ESPECIALLY FELT ON ROADS IN THE WEST.

Debs and His Lieutenants Pass Their First Night in Jail—They Decline to Be Interviewed—A Tragedy Growing Out of the Chicago Strike—Guerilla Warfare in the Northwest.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 18.—As the great railway strike dwindles, public interest is transferred to the inciting cause, the conditions at Pullman. In yesterday's telegrams to the POST-DISPATCH this phase of the great strike was fairly and very fully set out. But there is one other feature of it that now claims the attention of Mr. Geo. M. Pullman, and it is one in which the public has a lively interest—it is the irreparable damage, resulting from the boycott, to the Pullman Palace Car Co.

The injury to the popularity of the Pullman cars is incalculable. In the past railroad companies have preferred Pullman cars to those of other lines or to their own parlor cars, because of the prestige of the name "Pullman." The public has had an idea that unless a car was labelled "Pullman" it couldn't be really and truly a parlor car or a sleeper. Hereafter the railroads will feel like offering the Pullman company a bonus to paint its name off of its cars. It will be a year before timid people will begin to feel safe again in a Pullman car. The sensible part of the community will laugh at such fears, but they will also take a righteous satisfaction in keeping money out of Pullman's pockets.

The man who takes the New York Central limited between New York and Chicago instead of the Pennsylvania limited may not travel any more comfortably, but he can gloat over the fact that he is keeping precisely $9 out of the Pullman treasury. On short trips men will compensate themselves for the discomfort of an ordinary car by satisfaction at beating the Pullman company out of 50 cents or $1. This will be especially true in the West, where the hatred of Pullman seems to be almost the only bitterness left after the strike. The difference that the existence of this statement will make when the Pullman company comes to renew its contracts with the railroads is obvious, but even regardless of this the direct loss will be very great. The nature of the Pullman business is such that, when the reduction in business becomes so great that fewer cars have to be run, every passenger less is so much clear loss. It costs the Pullman company practically no more to run a car with twenty-five passengers than one with only five.

TROOPS IN LARGE CITIES.

Gen. McCook Favors the Idea Advanced by Gen. Schofield.

DENVER, Colo., July 18.—Gen. McCook is heartily in favor of Gen. Schofield's policy of concentrating the Federal troops at posts in vicinity of the large cities. He believes that a larger garrison should be kept at Fort Logan, near this city. "Disorderly mobs in big cities," said the General to-day, "have shown themselves to be more savage than the Apache Indians. In this department, however, perhaps more than any other, the necessity of a few scattered garrisons still remains. Arizona and New Mexico are still full of Indians."

IN THE COUNTY JAIL.

Debs and His Associates Decline to Be Interviewed.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 18.—President Debs passed a fairly comfortable night at the County Jail and early to-day ordered a good breakfast brought in from a neighboring hotel. Debs refused to be seen by interviewers, and he and his associates kept close in the seclusion of their cells.

The charge against Debs, and Rogers and Kelliher, the other officers of the A. R. U., is that they disregarded the injunction issued by the Federal Courts and are therefore in contempt. They were held yesterday evening in $3,000 bail each to answer to the charge next Monday. Bail would have been furnished by friends of the men, but they chose to go to jail until the cases are called.

Mr. Debs seems to enjoy jail life. So do George Howard, Vice-President; Sylver Kelliher, Secretary, and L. W. Rogers, a director of the A. R. U. All of them were smiling and in the best of spirits to-day after their first night's experience in the Cook County jail.

A large party of the personal friends of the imprisoned strike leaders called early at the county jail. The daily corridor scrubbing was in progress and no one was admitted for some time. President Debs sent word down to the waiting visitors that himself and friends had enjoyed a good night's rest and had nothing to say that would interest the public. Before 11 a. m. Debs came down from his cell to meet Stenographer Benedict of the American Railway Union, who had arrived with a bundle of mail for him. The President was in good humor.

"I had the best night's sleep I have had in a month or more," said he. "Nothing disturbed me, not even the ghost of that man who was hanged the other day and whose spirit is said to be roaming about in here. I have absolutely nothing to add to what I have already said concerning our arrest. We are here and will stay here until next Monday, at least."

A STRIKE TRAGEDY.

An Engineer, in Self-Defense, Uses a Revolver.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 18.—Albert Miles was shot and probably fatally wounded at Fiftieth and Halstead streets last evening by Oscar Vardman. Both men before the strike were employed as engineers by the switching association at the stock yards. When the strike was declared both of them went out. Vardman, however, returned to work last Monday, Miles still remaining out. Last evening, as Vardman was returning home from work he was met at the corner of Fiftieth and Halstead streets by Miles and three other men. A quarrel ensued, Miles endeavoring to persuade Vardman to leave his work again. Vardman refused to do this and he was assaulted by Miles and his companions. To defend himself he drew a revolver. At the sight of this Miles and his companions [illegible] and ran, but as they did so Vardman fired one shot. The bullet struck Miles in the small of the back and he fell to the ground, while the three others escaped. Miles was taken to the County Hospital, where the physicians said that he will die. Vardman went to the Stock Yards Police Station, where he gave himself up.

CALLED ON WICKES.

Chaplain Thomas Has an Interview With Fruitless Results.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 18.—Rev. Dr. H. W. Thomas, Chaplain of the First Infantry, I. N. G., came up from Pullman to-day and called on Vice-President Wickes of the Pullman company. Dr. Thomas has been striving to bring about peace between the company and its employes by getting the men to go back to work again.

"I came without authority," said he, as he left Mr. Wickes' office, "just to call on the Vice-President as one neighbor would call on another. Mr. Wickes received me cordially and we talked over the situation at Pullman before I left. There were no results from my call."

MILES AND THE MAYOR.

A Few Remarks Which Denote "Strained Relations."

CHICAGO, Ill., July 18.—Mayor Hopkins denies a report that he has been taking steps to secure the removal of the Federal troops from the city. He stated that he would not order the return of any of the militia to-day. Asked if he had consulted with Gen. Miles as to the withdrawal of the troops, the Mayor said:

"No. Gen. Miles has nothing to say about it. The department at Washington attends to that. A general may be a big man in a city like Chicago, but, like a congressman, he is not much at Washington."

The butchers continue returning to work at the stock yards. Among them is Vice-President Hazard of the Butchers' Union. The sheep butchers at Armour's have received a raise of 25 cents a day in their wages and four and a quarter days' work a week has been guaranteed them. All the houses were killing to-day.

WHO BURNED THE CARS?

Howard Claims the Work Was Done at the Instigation of Railways.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 18.—Vice-President Howard of the A. R. U., who is in jail for contempt of court in violating the injunction, made the following remarkable statement to-day:

"This is going to be a test case. We don't consider ourselves bigger than the law and, incidentally, we think the railroads are not. We are getting some evidence for the coming legal battle and we consider it a pretty fair grade. Here is a letter I have received telling of evidence that most of the freight-car burning here in Chicago was done by two men in the employ of the railways. One of the secret agents of a certain committee saw two men the night of the big fire going through the yards with a hand-car loaded with inflammable waste which they lighted and systematically threw among the cars. This agent overheard a conversation between the men, from which he gleaned that they were paid $200 down and were to receive $800 more when the job was done. This, understand, was before the troops were called out. An effort is now being made to arrest these two men.

"We further have pretty positive evidence that the big man who led the mob of 5,000 to Blue Island was a Pinkerton man, employed by the railroads, and it is significant that although he could be easily identified, yet he has not been arrested. It is safe to say that this case will not be entirely one sided."

At Uhlich's Hall, the A. R. U. headquarters, a larger crowd was gathered to-day than for several days past. The arrest of the leaders was discussed by the excited groups that stood about the committee-rooms and hallways and the action of the authorities was severely criticised.

On the Northern Pacific.

TACOMA, Wash., July 18.—Three hundred and fifty-one new employes have been put to work on the Pacific division of the Northern Pacific since the strike began. Practically all the old engineers have returned to work. Many of the switchmen, conductors, freight clerks and some firemen who quit have asked for their positions, but not all could be taken back, as new men had been employed. The road would be in operation as usual from end to end, the officials say, but for the guerilla warfare that is being continued. The force of deputy marshals in this State has been reduced from 300 to 200. All bridges are being guarded, chiefly by regulars.

To Open the Union Pacific.

OMAHA, Neb., July 18.—Four companies of 2d United States Infantry left Fort Omaha at 1 o'clock this afternoon, bound for Pocatello, Idaho, from which point they will be sent to Butte, Mont., for the purpose of opening the Union Pacific road, which is still blocked by strikers. The battalion was under the command of Capt. Kellar.

Resumption at the Tube Works.

McKEESPORT, Pa., July 18.—After weeks of idleness the strikers at the National Tube Works, McKeesport, met to-day and declared the strike off. The plant partially resumed on Monday under the guard of 800 deputies and about 600 men were at work to-day. A general resumption will take place in a few days.

Declared Off.

LOGAN, O., July 18.—The Columbus, Hocking Valley & Toledo strike has been declared off, and the men at this place returned to work to-day.

SHIP AFLAME.

Why the Crew of the Bark Ermina T. Crowell Abandoned Her.

NEW YORK, July 18.—The American bark, Emma T. Crowell, of Searsport, Me., Capt. Pendleton, sailed yesterday for Shanghai, laden with case oil. She was towed to sea and landed her pilot on the station boat at the bar shortly before noon. All went well until 6:20 o'clock in the evening, the vessel then being about twenty-seven miles south of Fire Island. About this time one of the crew noticed smoke coming from the forward deck. The hatch was immediately battened down and orders given to lower the boats and abandon the vessel, which was apparently doomed to destruction. All hands embarked and left the vessel. The White Star Runic, bound to Liverpool, hove in sight and took all on board. She then put about and steamed for the Scotland lightship aboard which the Crowell's crew were put. They were brought to this port this morning.

The bark was abandoned so hastily because of the danger of explosion, the hold being filled with barrels of oil. The last seen of the Crowell she was a mass of flames.

MILITARY BALL.

Special Train Accommodation From the Encampment To-Night.

Mr. Wishart, General Passenger Agent of the Frisco line, has arranged to run a train from Meramec Highlands to St. Louis at 10:50 o'clock to-night for the accommodation of the St. Louis people who attend the military ball at the Highlands Inn given by the 1st Regiment National Guards of Missouri, now in camp there. On Friday evening a reception to Gov. Stone and a ball will be given by the regiment after the inspection of the troops and review by the Governor and staff. On this occasion also Mr. Wishart will provide a late train for the guests to return to the city.

FOUR INJURED

Terrific Explosion of Oil at 1:30 O'Clock This Morning.

Fifty Gallons of Gasoline and Coal Oil Blow Up.

SEVERAL PEOPLE NARROWLY ESCAPE BEING BURNED TO DEATH.

The Store of W. W. Reynolds, at 1107 South Newstead Avenue the Scene of the Occurrence—Reynolds and His Wife and Mrs. John Fisher and Little Son Injured—The Reynolds Building Destroyed and the Wall Blown Out of the Fisher Residence.

At 1:30 o'clock this morning twenty gallons of gasoline and thirty gallons of coal oil exploded at 1107 South Newstead avenue, the grocery and general store of W. W. Reynolds. Reynolds' left leg was badly burned to the knee, and his right foot was burned. Mrs. Reynolds' left foot was burned and her right hand hurt.

The wall of an adjoining house was blown out and John Fisher, his wife and two children were thrown out of bed. The 4-year-old boy, John, was stunned, and Mrs. Fisher got her head cut.

The two explosions which followed in rapid succession were heard by patrolmen and others on the Natural Bridge and Clayton roads. The front windows of a two-story brick across New Manchester road, occupied by Mrs. Hackett, were shattered and she was thrown violently to the floor. Nearly all the occupants of the row of frame houses on Newstead avenue adjoining the store and Fisher's cottage fared equally bad. Many of them were thrown to the floor and the furniture was violently shaken.

The Fire Department arrived almost immediately and Fisher's cottage was partially saved. The furniture is almost a total wreck. The force of the concussion upset the wash-stand in Fisher's sleeping-room, throwing a marble slab within a foot of where the little boy slept on a pallet.

The wash-stand fell on the little fellow and stunned him, but Fisher escaped with the boy in his arms. The store burned to the ground.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds escaped from the sleeping room in the rear, and went to the home of a hospitable neighbor, John Berry of 4342 New Manchester road, where they were treated by Dr. John M. Simon of 4246 New Manchester road.

THEIR INJURIES.

Their injuries are painful, but are not regarded as dangerous. Reynolds' left leg was terribly charred. When seen by a POST-DISPATCH reporter this morning Reynolds gave the following account of the accident:

"I and my wife waked at about 1:30 o'clock to find the room full of smoke, flames shooting in from the store through the windows and enveloping the roof. I grabbed for some clothes. My wife did the same thing. We ran into the kitchen. The back door was locked and bolted. It took a minute or so to open it. As I pulled the door back the flames rushed in from the outside and scorched my eyebrows and singed my hair. The fire was already playing on my legs from the side wall and floor. I noticed little pain until I was safe outside with my wife in the shed in the rear. I hardly know when the explosion occurred. The consciousness that fire was going to give us a race for the outer world and life obscured every other sensation or thought. My wife got her hand hurt in getting through the back fence into the shed. The heat was awful.

"Safe outside, I saw I was badly burned. I learned Fisher's family were safe, and when I saw the department could do nothing to save my possessions I left to seek shelter.

"We had been occupying the store since November. The stock, fixtures and furniture I value at $1,500. I carried $1,100 of insurance, $500 being on the household stuff.

"The gasoline was in a tank on a covered, but open platform on the north side of the house. The coal oil was in a tank in the store on the side next to Fisher's. I have no idea how the fire started. There was no light or fire in the house."

Being asked whether he suspected incendiarism, he said: "No, I have only one enemy in the world, and I would not suspect him of any mean action. We had a difficulty two or three months ago. No, I shall not mention his name, for that would be unjust. I simly do not know how the fire started."

Mrs. Reynolds corroborated her husband's statements, adding that the store was closed and the light extinguished at about 9 o'clock. She said there had been no fire even in the kitchen stove since yesterday morning, as she felt unwell last evening and did not have a warm supper.

FISHER'S AWFUL EXPERIENCE.

John Fisher who was employed at a saloon, corner Caroline street and Montrose avenue, until Sunday, was seen at the scene of the fire sadly surveying the wreck of all his possessions, save wife and children.

"I, my wife, and baby girl were sleeping in the second room," he said, "and the little boy on the floor on a summer pallet. I suddenly found myself on the floor, my wife was doubled up in bed. The little girl lay half out and half in the bed. The entire wall was gone, except the upright supports. Plank and plaster were blown loose. Window glass shot across the room as if from a cannon. A piece of glass wounded my wife in the head. I could see that the store was aflame, and fire seemed to be licking up the last vestiges of my north wall when I awoke. I thought the end of the world had come. Smoke choked me and flames seemed ready to envelop us all. I seized my clothes and threw the upturned washstand off my boy's body. He was limp and seemed lifeless. My wife seized the body and we hurried out the back door. We were none too soon. The flames were crowding on us and smoke was so thick we could scarcely breathe. John soon revived and asked what was the matter. He is bruised, but not hurt seriously. My wife was pitched into the air, but alighted back in bed.

"I had $800 insurance on my furniture. It was worth much more. However, my family are all safe and practically unhurt and I feel very thankful."

The frame store and house were the property of Benjamin S. Saville of 4826 Vista avenue. The store has a sleeping room and kitchen in the rear. Fisher's house had three rooms. Both houses were insured. They were worth about $3,000 or $3,500.

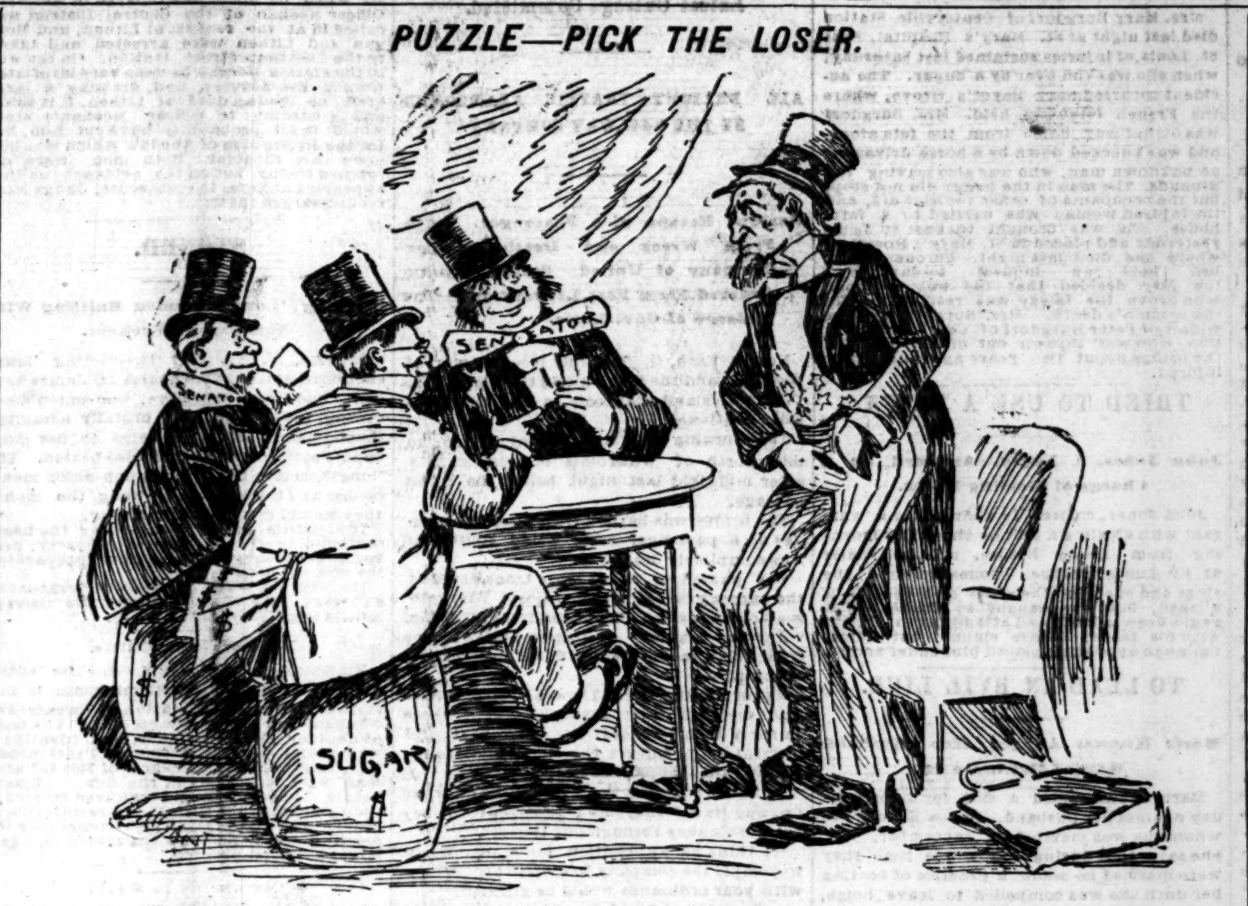
PUZZLE—PICK THE LOSER.



Uncle Sam: "Broke, by Jove! I thought I could do a little smart work myself, but this is what I get for going against professionals."

DISMISSED.

The Case Against Ziegenheim Thrown Out by Judge Green.

A Demurrer to the State's Evidence Sustained.

THE STATE'S ATTEMPT TO CHANGE ITS ATTITUDE PROVED FATAL.

It First Charged That the $4,102 Was Paid for Merchants' and Manufacturers' Licenses and Then Abandoned That Position With Disastrous Results—Deputy Comptroller Gabel's Testimony.

The third day of the trial of Collector Henry Ziegenhein in the Criminal Court began with the introduction of Deputy Comptroller Fred Gabel. He defined his general duties and those relating to the Collector, including the issue of tax-bills and the making of quarterly settlements for tax-bills and monthly settlements as to tax-bills. Licenses and other blank forms are issued by the Comptroller. Receipts are taken from the Collector for such issues and his licenses are inspected by the Comptroller. Respecting manufacturers' licenses, they were issued in blank and without the Comptroller's signature, which is stamped on after the license is issued. The manufacturer's city license, when issued to Ziegenhein, bears only the name of the City Register, and after issue to the person taking it out is recorded by the Comptroller. Manufacturers' State licenses are also issued in blank, and settlements on these are made by the Collector every quarter. This license includes the school tax. The Collector is charged as with cash, for all the blank licenses issued by the Comptroller; and the amount that he has on hand with his collections added should, and usually did, agree with the amount of the licenses issued to the Collector. The Comptroller learned of the issue of licenses by the Collector by the daily presentation of these licenses for the Comptroller's signature. As to manufacturers' licenses, if a license is signed by the Comptroller it must be accounted for by the Collector within a month, either with the money received for it, or by the production of the license itself.

Mr. Gabel testified that Carl Ungar was in charge of the license department of the Collector's office, and named several of the clerks employed there during the period covered by the examination, from September, 1893, to April, 1894, inclusive. On March 24, 1894, a conversation was held in the Collector's private office between Mr. Gabel and Mr. Ziegenhein, when Mr. Gabel told Mr. Ziegenhein that he had come to learn what licenses were still outstanding. Mr. Ziegenhein called Ungar, and the latter said there were $5,000 or $6,000 worth. Mr. Ziegenhein said it was very difficult to make collections. Mr. Gabel again asked what manufacturers were still out, and Mr. Ziegenhein referred Mr. Gabel to Mr. Ungar for the information.

McDonald objected to the introduction of this line of questions, claiming that Mr. Ziegenhein made no statements in this conversation in answer to Mr. Gabel's questions.

Ungar was present at the beginning of the conversation—was in the room, in fact, before Ziegenhein.

Mr. Gabel had examined the books of the Collector for Sept. 16-20, 1893, inclusive, for merchants' licenses issued, and found no amount of $4,102 credited on a manufacturer's license to the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association. Mr. McDonald excepted to the admission of the question that brought out this statement.

The witness testified that the Comptroller had an accounting for $5,478 paid by the Anheuser-Busch Association as merchants' and manufacturers' license for 1893-94. That was the only sum paid by this firm for this account of which the Comptroller's office had any knowledge.

There was no amount of $4,102 paid by the Anheuser-Busch company credited on the Comptroller's books for the year 1893-'94.

On cross-examination, Mr. Gabel admitted the issue to the Collector of a book containing the merchants' and the manufacturers' licenses. He identified one of the books, containing stubs of licenses issued, and explained again the routine of the issue of licenses. Mr. McDonald called the attention of the jury to the fact that the Comptroller's signature is stamped on the license after it is torn out of the book; and then induced the witness to say that no license could be issued by the Collector without the Comptroller's signature. That course was pursued with respect to Anheuser-Busch licenses, one the city license, the other the State, city and school. The license was returned and the cash return of the Collector had been compared at the end of the quarter; had been found to balance. The witness admitted that no license was issued for $4,102 to the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association. Turning to Sept. 19, 1893, in the cashier's blotter in the Collector's office, Mr. McDonald proved by the witness that it did not contain such an amount as $4,102; nor did the books contain the record of such payment on Sept. 19, 18 or 17, 1893.

The merchants' school tax for 1893-94 was eleven times as great as that for the previous year, the witness admitted, and also that many of the firms delayed paying their licenses until after the validity of the law had been settled. Witness knew that the Collector was waiting on a good many concerns until that issue should be decided.

The Collector had accounted to the Comptroller for $5,430 for a city license issued to the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association, and the State license, making the total of $5,478, paid on March 31, had also been accounted for by the Collector. The amount of $5,478 represented all the city, State and school taxes which the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association should, under its sworn statement, pay to the city for the year 1893-94. Witness stated that the Collector's collections might be $1,500,000 or $2,000,000 a month, or only $100,000 or $200,000. The witness had found small clerical errors in the Collector's accounts, but never for more than $2.89. As shown by the records the Collector was square at the end of the last fiscal month.

Witness found in the Comptroller's books the entries of $5,430 and $48, making the total of $5,478 paid on March 31 by the Anheuser-Busch Association for city and State and school license tax respectively.

On redirect examination witness stated that he only knew of the collections by the licenses issued and the collector's returns thereon, and that the comptroller had no knowledge of any other money paid to the collector. If an amount had been paid by a manufacturer and no license had been issued the comptroller would have no knowledge of such payment.

On re-cross examination Mr. Gabel admitted that the Collector could not have issued a license without the Comptroller's knowledge; but on re-direct examination admitted that the Collector could receive money without the Comptroller's knowledge.

Mr. Muehleman was recalled by the State against Mr. McDonald's protest, and admitted that he kept all checks returned to the Anheuser-Busch Association and a record of all moneys paid on account of saloon licenses.

Mr. Muehleman was excused and the State rested.

Mr. McDonald here prepared and filed a demurrer to the evidence introduced by the State as being insufficient and asked an instruction to acquit. The jury was sent out and the Court announced itself ready to hear argument on the demurrer.

Mr. Walker opened the argument against the demurrer. He set out the State's claim that the check for $4,102 was paid to the Collector in his official capacity, as a public fund, and that it was not necessary that he should have the money in his possession. He believed the State had shown that the check had been received and that it had not been accounted for to the city. The check could not have been collected without Mr. Ziegenhein's signature as Collector; and it was not necessary to show that he personally received the money. It was paid to him as Collector and went to his account in bank as Collector.

The court observed that the original theory of the State was that Ziegenhein received the money as merchants' and manufacturers' licenses, but that now it desired to abandon that theory and set up the claim that the money was received for some other licenses. The court did not think the State could do this.

Mr. Bishop argued that the check for $4,102 was paid to Henry Ziegenhein as a public fund, and that he had failed to turn it over to the city constituted embezzlement.

The court answered that the State's own testimony showed that Ziegenhein had accounted for all money received as merchants' and manufacturers' licenses, and that the State should have originally set up the claim that the Collector had received $9,580 on account of merchants' and manufacturers' licenses if it wanted to include this check for $4,102 in the payment of Anheuser-Busch for such license.

Mr. Bishop answered again that this money was received as a public fund, and should be accounted for.

The court ordered a recess until 2 o'clock and took the demurrer under advisement.

ON A DEMURRER.

Judge Green sustained the demurrer and instructed the jury to acquit on the ground that the indictment charges that Collector Zeigenhein had embezzled $4,102 paid as merchants' license, whereas the city had received $5,578, the total of the Anheuser-Busch license.''

BACK TO NORMAL.

The Railroad Blockade in East St. Louis Is Over.

CHAIRMAN GAYS SAYS THE ROADS CAN HANDLE ALL FREIGHT OFFERED.

The Thespians Who Played for the Benefit of the A. R. U. Visit the Strikers' Headquarters and Receive a Promise That They Will Be Paid—The Situation.

Chairman Gays of the Managers' Association said that the roads had all the men needed, and traffic was gradually returning to its normal condition. At the present time, he said, the roads have a large amount of freight to handle, but in a few days they will be free from this necessary result of the blockade.

The men at headquarters reiterated their statements that the Missouri Pacific was not doing much business and was running cars backward and forward merely to deceive.

CLAIM OF THESPIANS.

At the strike headquarters, 1109 Clark avenue, to-day, the only matter of interest was the conference between the "Banker's Niece" Co. and the general Board of Finance of the local A. R. U. The actors and actresses explained their grievance to be the failure to pay them for their services, in presenting the play, for the benefit of the A. R. U., at the Standard Theater, last Saturday and Sunday. Those of the company at the conference were Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Kirby, Misses Manning and Wallace and Messrs. R. B. Jones, C. L. Kirby and C. E. Glyndon. At the adjournment of the conference the thespians said that the General Board of Finance promised to pay their claims this afternoon in full. Each actor and actress claimed $10 for the two nights' services. Miss Mattie Webb was not at the conference on account of sickness, superinduced, said Mr. Glyndon, by the exciting scenes at the theater when the company demanded payment. Mr. Glyndon laid all the blame for the misunderstanding upon Mr. Reed, who promoted the benefit.

KERN AND ELLIOTT.

Messrs. Elliott and Kern, the leaders and spokesmen of the strikers, were said to be in East St. Louis. The General Board of Finance was busy passing upon bills.

Some of the Actors Paid.

Treasurer A. Smith of the Amusement Committee of the A. R. U. paid some of the actors who took part in the benefit at the Standard Theater their salaries late yesterday afternoon. It is alleged there are others who remain unpaid and will make further demands.

Strikers Arrested for an Assault.

Dennis Laughlin and Mike Hoffman were arrested yesterday, charged with being implicated in the assault on Thomas McCarthy, a car repairer, on July 9. Charles Tooley was arrested some days ago, charged with the same offense. All three prisoners are strikers.

Warrant for Brown and Buck.

Warrants were yesterday issued against Richard Brown and William Buck charging them with obstructing a railroad and endangering life. They are accused of running an engine amuck last Friday in the Missouri Pacific yards.

SQUABBLE OVER POLES.

The St. Louis Electric Light Co. Mandamus Suit Against the Edison Co.

The St. Louis Electric Light and Power Co. applied to Judge Dillon to-day for a writ of mandamus against the Edison Illuminating Co. to compel them to show cause why the relator should not be allowed to occupy cross arms on the poles of the Edison company on the south side of Franklin avenue, from Fourth street to Seventh street. The relator claims that under ordinance No. 13,728 and the rules of the Board of Public Improvements it is entitled to use the cross-arms upon another company's poles upon paying a compensation of 60 cents per cross-arm. Judge Dillon issued an alternative writ returnable July 28.

Supposed to Be Insane.

Oscar Littman, 28 years old, was arrested last night at his home, 1028 Lynch street, on complaint of Gustav Kenne, who informed the police that Littman was apparently out of his mind. Littman was creating quite a commotion in the neighborhood, shouting at the top of his voice and making threats to kill some one. He was held for examination by Dr. Warren G. Priest. The prisoner is a married man and a brewer by occupation.

HERDAUGHTER

Mrs. Bachhaus Finds the Mother of the Abandoned Babe.

Her Own Child Sent the Little One to Her.

THE GIRL TAKEN INTO CUSTODY FOR ABANDONING IT.

The Police Claim the Arrest Was Made at the Request of Mrs. Bachhaus—Anna Brinkman, as Her Daughter Is Known, Denies This—Did Not Intend to Desert the Little One—A Warrant Refused.

A peculiar story was told to-day in the application for a warrant against Annie Brinkman, aged 19 years, on a charge of abandoning her child. On Monday last a woman called at the residence of Mrs. Josephine Bachhaus, 4446 Prairie avenue, and had with her a 3-weeks-old female child, which she asked Mrs. Bachhaus to keep for a short time while she attended to some business in the neighborhood. Mrs. Bachhaus took the little one, and the woman failing to return, the infant was turned over to the police and sent to St. Ann's Asylum.

Nothing further was heard from the case until yesterday, when the police claimed that Mrs. Bachhaus applied to them for the arrest of Annie Brinkman, her daughter by a former marriage, stating, they allege, that the child was her daughter's. Mrs. Bachhaus wanted her arrested for abandoning it, the police assert.

The young woman was taken in custody this morning by Officer Konitz and locked up at the Sixth District Police Station. Konitz went to the Four Courts and applied for a warrant against her on the charge of abandoning the child.

THE POLICEMAN'S STORY.

The officer told the following story, which is alleged to have been obtained from the girl, who is a brunette and quite pretty, after her arrest. She was employed by a medicine company at 215 South Main street, and was wronged by a young man who worked for a firm in the next block. She became in a delicate condition, but concealed the fact from her mother by tight lacing. Two months ago, realizing that she would shortly become a mother, she told her mother that she had secured a position as servant in a family and left home. She went to the Female Hospital, where her child was born. Last Sunday she was discharged from the institution. She went to the house of a friend down town and stayed there Sunday night. She conceived the idea of sending the child to her mother and on Monday entrusted it with Mary Soldier, a woman, who left it with Mrs. Bachhaus. Mary Soldier is said by the police to have no regular place of abode. The young mother's intention, it is alleged, was to have the child left with her mother, as described above. She intended to return home the same evening and pretend to become deeply interested in the baby and prevail on her mother to keep it. She could then be with the child and care for it, and no one would know her secret.

Her plan was frustrated by the action of her mother in sending the infant to the asylum.

TRIED TO GET THE CHILD.

The girl read of this last evening in the newspaper before she started home. Instead of going home she went to the asylum, but would not be given the child by the sisters, the infant having been placed in the institution by the police. The disappointed young woman then went home and confessed everything to her mother. The latter was incensed at the disgrace, the police state, and refused to forgive her daughter. She notified the police to arrest and prosecute the girl for abandonment.

WARRANT REFUSED.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Estep refused to issue a warrant against her, stating that she was guilty of no offense under the law, as the young woman had not abandoned her child, but was trying to do the best she could for it, and when her plan failed tried to get the child back to care for it. Officer Konitz returned to the Sixth District Station and reported to Acting Capt. Fox his failure to get a warrant. The young woman, on learning that she was going to be released, begged that she might be given her child, that she might take it and care for it as best she could. Capt. Fox sent her to the Four Courts in charge of an officer with a request that Chief Harrigan give her an order to get the child.

THE GIRL'S STORY.

The girl was seen at the Four Courts later in the day and told a story differing from the police reports. She says her name is Bachhaus, not Brinkmann, and that she had taken the latter name, which was that of her grandmother, because her father objected to her being known by the family name. She says that she left her child with a girl friend living near Twentieth street and Lucas avenue, and that she did not ask her mother to adopt the child. She says further that it was not on complaint of her mother that she was arrested for abandonment, but that she herself called an officer in, and, after telling him her story, the officer arrested her and made the charge of abandonment against her.

Chief of Police Harrigan refused to give the young woman an order on St. Ann's Asylum for the child, and she cannot now get it, except by a decision of court.

STATEHOOD IN SIGHT.

The Senate Committee Recommends Admission for Arizona and New Mexico.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—The Senate Committee on Territories to-day decided to recommend the admission of Arizona and New Mexico as States, and instructed the sub-committee who have the bills in charge to make favorable reports at the meeting of the full committee next Wednesday.

After the adjournment of the full committee the sub-committee on New Mexico, consisting of Messrs. Blackburn, White and Shoup, held a meeting in accordance with the instructions from the committee and put the bill in shape for presentation. The amendments made by them provide for a change of date for the election, and the Constitutional Convention to correspond with the dates in the Utah bill.

The Arizona sub-committee has not yet taken action.

Turf Membership Admittances.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 18.—The American Turf Congress at to-day's session at the Auditorium admitted the Hawthorne, the New Harlem and the Oakley tracks to membership. The Crescent City track was also admitted and other applications were considered.

SUGAR STOCK.

Renewal of the Inquiry Into Senatorial Corruption.

The Lobby Giving Rise to Many Sensational Reports.

EFFORTS OF TREASURER SEARLS TO HAVE THE SCHEDULE RETAINED.

Terrill at Washington—Sugar Men Avoiding the House—The Bluffs of Senator Gorman—All Disguise Thrown Off by the Trust—"Let the Schedule Alone or You Don't Get a Tariff Bill."

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 18.—There is a strong probability that the Senate sugar investigation will be reopened. The stories of alleged speculations by Senators have finally stirred up the country. An informal meeting of the committee was held yesterday and a proposition to reopen the inquiry was made. Senators Gray and Lindsay opposed it, and Senators Davis and Allen spoke in its favor. As neither Senator Gray nor Senator Lindsay would break the tie the proposition went over until Senator Lodge gets back. Senator Lodge was telegraphed at Nahant to return, and as he will probably side with his Republican colleagues the hearings are likely to be continued.

THE SUGAR LOBBY.

The appearance of the sugar lobby, for whom the investigating committee has no terrors, has given rise to many sensational reports. One of the rumors is that the trust has promised to contribute liberally to the Democratic Congressional campaign fund if the present schedule is sustained. With the exception of Henry O. Havemeyer, all the men who figured in the scandal growing out of the Senate sugar schedule are again in evidence. Treasurer Searls apparently is the directing spirit in the campaign to have this schedule retained. He is installed in his old rooms. "Brice's man," Terrill, who handled 10,000 shares of sugar stock and could not recall whether the speculations had resulted in a profit or loss, is here, and so is "Reed of Boston." Then ex-Secretary Elkins, who is understood to have some direct or indirect interest in sugar and greater direct interest in other articles taxed in the bill, is in town "for a few days."

The sugar men, as might be expected, have made no attempt to do "missionary work" on the House side of the Capitol, as they recognize that the trust is without sponsors in that body.

GORMAN'S BLUFFS.

The sugar lobby is operating entirely from the Senate end, and its chief representative, from all appearances, is Senator Gorman of Maryland. He has made more than one bluff to the House conferrees that unless the schedule, practically as it was passed by the Senate, was agreed to, the tariff bill will not be passed. The Sugar Trust lobby has thrown off all disguise and Senator Gorman and the other Senators who "held up" the Finance Committee for the trust's benefit, are no longer talking about the necessity of the Senate rates of duty to raise revenue. The only argument is that of the Dick Turpin style: "Let the trust schedule alone or you don't get a tariff bill." The sugar lobby has no wide field to operate in as it had before, and it would seem from Gorman's activity that he was being relied upon to pull the trust through.

DEBTS OF PACIFIC ROADS.

Advisability of a Minority Report on Adjustment.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—The advisability of making a minority report against the bill for adjusting the debts of the Pacific railroads is being considered by two or three members of the committee who have opposed the Reilly bill. When a test vote was had Saturday on a resolution offered by Mr. Harris of Kansas against any extension of time to the corporations, nine votes were cast against it and five for it, the latter being by Messrs. Harris, Weadock of Michigan, Boatner of Louisiana, Cooper of Wisconsin, and Snodgrass of Tennessee.

Though the vote has not been taken upon the Reilly bill, it is understood that two or three of the five were satisfied with the amendments which were offered to it and will vote for it, so that when the new draft is submitted to the committee Thursday it will be sure of a safe majority.

Mr. Harris expresses the fear that in reducing the Government's second mortgage to a first mortgage the holders of third and fourth mortgages on parts of the Pacific system may interpose with the contention that the Government has lost its position in the transaction and become secondary to their claims upon the property and may succeed in an appeal to the courts. Other members do not consider the objection well taken. If it is decided to make a minority report no steps will be taken until after the vote on the bill.

DEMOCRATIC PLANS.

No Report From the House Tariff Conference To-Day.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—Speaker Crisp, who is back in the House after four days' absence, says there will be no report from the Tariff Conference Committee to-day. It cannot be learned that any definite plan of action has been outlined by the House Democratic leaders, yet it is evidently their impression that it might prove inexpedient to carry out the plan of reporting a total disagreement and asking for instructions. It was pointed out that such a report would only emphasize the character of the difference, and that should the Senate and House instruct their conferrees to stand by their respective positions it would precipitate a deadlock.

The advice of the House leaders was, therefore, in line with that which a judge sometimes gives to a disagreeing jury, to go back and try again. This did away with the chance of a report of disagreement to-day. It is believed also that one of the results of the Speaker's return was to stiffen the determination of the House conferees and to keep the contest in conference. It was stated, however, that with the conferrees in session the situation might change at any moment, and one of Mr. Crisp's closest advisers said the report would probably come in to-morrow.

It has been developed also that a difference exists as to the scope of the report of disagreement. The House conferrees desire to make a partial report of such agreements as are possible and ask for instructions on the items subject to disagreement. The Senate conferrees have stood for an agreement in toto or a disagreement in toto. This has made it impossible for the House conferrees to get before the House such special questions of disagreement as they desired instructions upon.

The Democratic conferrees held a brief session to-day and adjourned before 12 o'clock. They made another effort to reach an agreement, but it proved ineffectual and the meeting adjourned with the understanding that the full Conference Committee, which is to begin at 3 o'clock, would report a disagreement. The Republican members of the committee will make no opposition to this course.

Beyond the point of making the brief report of disagreement in toto, the conferees profess not to know what the House or Senate will do. One of the House conferees said that the three items of sugar, iron ore and coal were the points that had forced the total disagreement. Woolens, cottons, lead and some other things had been open to difference, yet it was hoped that these could have been reconciled, said the conferees, if sugar, coal and iron had not stood in the way.

One of the House conferees explained the plan of procedure as outlined at a meeting of the Democratic conferees held early in the day as follows: "The report will be a disagreement in toto. It will be very brief, and will not go into any details as to what questions the Senate and House might have come together on. The report is expected to be the first business taken up by the House when it assembles to-morrow at noon. This, of course, cannot be made certain until the Republican conferees give their assent. It is in their power to cause delay, but such action is not anticipated."

MRS. BURGDORF'S DEATH.

An Unknown Man Ran Her Down With His Buggy.

Mrs. Mary Burgdorf of Centerville Station died last night at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, of injuries sustained last Saturday, when she was run over by a buggy. The accident occurred near Rayot's Grove, where the French fete was held. Mrs. Burgdorf was on her way home from the fete afoot, and was knocked down by a horse driven by an unknown man, who was also leaving the grounds. The man in the buggy did not stop, but the occupants of other vehicles did, and the injured woman was carried to a farm house. She was brought to East St. Louis yesterday and placed in St. Mary's Hospital, where she died last night. Coroner Campbell held an inquest to-day, and the jury decided that the unknown man who drove the buggy was responsible for the woman's death. Mrs. Burgdorf was the widow of Peter Burgdorf of Centerville Station, who was thrown out of his wagon on the bridge about two years ago and fatally injured.

She says that during the whole time they were married he made a practice of beating her until she was compelled to leave home, and upon her return he would renew his attacks upon her. She alleges further that he frequently and in the presence of others insisted upon her leading an evil life, so that he might gain money thereby, and upon her continued refusal repeatedly beat her. She asks for her maiden name, Marie Etchevring.

BITTEN BY A MAD DOG.

A Savage Brute Ran Amuck in the Streets of Emporia.

EMPORIA, Kan., July 18.—A panic has been created in the west of Lyon County by the doings of an enormous dog that had hydrophobia. Yesterday it showed signs of rabies by savagely attacking a horse which it sprang upon and horribly mangled in the back, tearing the flesh to shreds. It then began to run "amuck" with dogs and other animals, finally biting a young man named Cal Moon through the hand, and was only stopped in its savage doings by Albert Moon, a brother of the brute's victim, seizing an ax and splitting its skull open as it attacked him. Young Moon has started to Strong City to have a madstone applied to his hand. Many dogs and other animals that have been bitten will have to be killed.

It May Be Extended to Embrace Oleomargarine.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 18.—The Grant bill to extend the provision of the original package act to oleomargarine, which was discussed before the Committee on Agriculture this morning, will probably be reported favorably to the House before the close of the week. FRIGHTENED TWO GIRLS.

Robert Jackson Terrified His Sweetheart With a Loaded Revolver.

Robert L. Jackson, a carpenter, rooms at 1802 Washington avenue. He has been keeping company with Miss Teresa Toerber, 2702 Lucas avenue. While they were out walking a few nights ago he displayed a big pearl-handled revolver and so terrified his sweetheart that she told him not to call on her again. Last night Jackson came to the house and was told Miss Toerber and her sister had gone to the opera. He camped out on the sidewalk and waited. When the girls returned he started toward them and they say he had his right hand in his hip pocket. They screamed and fled and an officer locked Jackson up for carrying a concealed weapon. In the Second District Police Court this morning the revolver was presented as evidence. Miss Toerber and her sister told their story and Justice Paxson fined Jackson $25.

WHISKY IN BOND.

Local Withdrawals Light Considering the Future Increased Tax.

The withdrawals of whisky in anticipation of the increase tax from 90c to $1.10 per gallon is not as large as it is in many other cities and is confined principally to spirits, as they do not improve by age. Even the purchases of these by dealers is not so much for speculative account, as they are not laying in more than one to two months' supplies. Some of them who do not believe the tax will become a law are only buying to cover immediate wants. The stocks of Kentucky bourbon and Pennsylvania rye whisky in bond, dealers say, are not being materially affected, the withdrawals not being much larger than usual at this season of the year. The reason for this is that there is a clause in the bill that by paying an additional penalty of 5 cents per gallon the time whisky can be left in bond can be increased five years. Considering the interest on the money, it is considered that the penalty and the increased tax will be more than offset.

Cashed a Worthless Check.

Frank J. Brown, who lives at 408 North Seventh, reported to the police yesterday that on July 3 last, he cashed a check for $11, presented by a man who gave the name of Frederick Morgan, and since then the check proved worthless. John R. Boyden is the name of the person supposed to have drawn the check, on the Mechanics' Bank. Morgan is 25 years old, and a smooth-looking chap.

FIRE AND BOMB

The Rock Island Railroad War Continues in Oklahoma.

Burning of a Ninety-Foot Bridge the Latest Outrage Committed.

ALL FREIGHT TRAFFIC ABANDONED BY THE RAILWAY COMPANY.

Narrow Escape of a Passenger Train From Wreck and Death—Another Company of United States Troops Ordered From Fort Leavenworth—The Message of Gov. Lowe.

NORTH ENID, O. T., July 18.—The war of the torch and the bomb along the line of the Rock Island Railroad in the Cherokee Strip continues.

The burning of a ninety-foot bridge one mile north of Waukomis Station shortly after midnight last night being the latest outrage.

The bridge was burned just after the passage of a passenger train going south and was completely destroyed.

The passenger trains were transferred at the burning bridge this morning. The railroad company has abandoned freight traffic.

Another company of United States troops from Fort Leavenworth will arrive here this evening.

Mayor Franke of Pond Creek has received this message from Acting-Governor Lowe in reply to his request for territorial and Federal aid to enforce the city ordinance regarding the stoppage of trains.

"I have requested the Rock Island Railroad Co. and its attorneys and president to obey your ordinance through our request.

"I think an application for a mandamus to compel the company to stop in accordance with your ordinance would be granted."

Acting-Gov. Lowe has ordered the militia at once to Enid and Round Pond.

There is but one company of twenty-one boys, none over 25, who never shot a gun and were just organized last week.

There is consternation in their ranks, at the idea of active service. The tension at Enid grows worse and the people seem to have no respect for the regulars who have no orders to shoot.

HOGG HOPELESS.

A Gloomy View of the Republic's Future Taken by the Texas Governor.

AUSTIN, Tex., July 18.—Gov. Hogg this morning, in an address to officers of State troops in annual encampment, the occasion being the presentation of a fine gold watch to him by the State Guard, took a gloomy view of the outlook for the great republic.

He predicts that within a short time, unless a foreign war intervenes, America will be in the throes of a great revolution and the Government destroyed, in which event he said: "I want Texas to fall on her feet and live under her old constitution of 1836 as a Republic."

He predicts that within six weeks California, Kansas, Colorado and Illinois will be under martial law and the magnificent twenty-one story buildings of Chicago will be bespattered with the hearts, lungs and livers of its citizens blown to atoms by the dynamite of Anarchists.

He referred to President Cleveland having ordered troops to Chicago and said he felt humiliated over it, as it was a dangerous invasion of State rights, and had not been done before since 1860. He also took occasion to disagree with Judge Cooley's letter printed in press dispatches. He declared his ability to preserve peace in Texas without assistance, and he had so informed the President.

AFTER MR. LOSS.

Another Application for Warrant Against Him Refused.

John Lenhart of 1414 Biddle street, accompanied by his attorney, John McKeag called at the Four Courts to-day seeking a warrant for fraud against John C. Loss, President of the Boston Brown Bread Co. of 918 Wash street. Lenhart claims that he gave Loss $100, security for a $50 per month position some time ago, and now alleges that he has received neither employment nor salary. Loss claims he had no wagon on which to place Lenhart, but declared that his salary went on just the same, whether he worked or not. Lenhart was refused a warrant. There have been similar complaints made on previous occasions against Loss.

WHILE UNDER ARREST.

Joseph Morgan Tried to Stab Charles Lithen, His Accuser.

This morning Joseph Morgan, who claims to be a resident of North St. Louis, and Chas. Lithen, a banker from Texas, were defendants on the First District Police Court docket, charged with disturbing each other's peace. Last night at the Winter Garden on Broadway Lithen made the complaint that he had been robbed by Morgan of some money. He claimed to have had $100 in his possession when he entered the place, but he only had $54 when he made the charge of robbery. Officer Meehan of the Central District was called in at the request of Lithen, and Morgan and Lithen were arrested and taken to the Chestnut Street Station. On the way to the station Morgan became very infuriated toward his accuser, and, drawing a large knife, he made a dash at Lithen, it is said, and according to Officer Meehan's story would in all probability have cut him, but for the strong arm of the law which was laid upon his shoulder. Both men were arraigned to-day, but on the evidence, neither appearing anxious to prosecute, Judge Morris discharged them.

STONED.

Striking 'Longshoremen Battling With Non-Union Workers.

OSWEGO, N. Y., July 18.—Rioting 'longshoremen entered the houses of James Sexsmith and Isaac Densmore, non-union men, during the night and brutally assaulted them. Sexsmith's wife came to her husband's assistance and was also beaten. The 'longshoremen then stoned non-union men's houses and threatened to hang the men if they should unload barges to-day.

The militia are now occupying the beats surrounding the company's property, preventing the 'longshoremen from approaching the non-union men.

The 41st separate company of Syracuse is expected here soon to assist the Oswego militia in preserving the peace.

Miners and Militia.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 18.—The entire mining district about Birmingham is in a state of alarm and confusion. Twenty-five companies of militia are present. L. Bull and Gerald L. Hoyt of this city; Rowland Hazzard of Rhode Island and Edwin H. Abbott of Boston. An agreement, preparatory to the formation of a plan of reorganization, is being drawn up under which the security holders are asked to deposit their bonds with the company. The original plan of funding the coupons of the first mortgage bonds has been abandoned. Edwin H. Abbott has resigned both as President and Director of the Wisconsin Central Railroad Co.

THREE KNOCK OUTS.

Officer McDonald Fares Badly in His Cases—Desmond Fails Him.

Officer McDonald of the Sixth District, who has been doing strike duty at the railroad yards in the Central District, fared badly in the First District Police Court yesterday afternoon, in three cases in which he figured as the prosecuting witness. The three defendants were arrested by the officer on Monday. City Attorney Clover entered a nolle prosequi in the case of William O'Neill, charged with canning beer, it being explained to him that the defendant was an elderly stranger in the city who on his arrival at the depot hired an express man to take him to his destination and on the way over the Twelfth Street Bridge was drinking beer for which he had sent the driver, when the policeman stopped the rig and took him out of the wagon. Wm. Adams, a colored porter at Farrell & Turner's saloon McDonald claimed to have caught canning beer under the Twelfth street bridge, but a number of witnesses testified that the negro merely rolled out an empty beer keg from the saloon and placed it under the bridge. The court discharged Adams. McDonald had Frank Donick, a newsboy, up for disturbing the peace, claiming he had cursed and swore at him and Chief of Detectives Desmond and raised a general disturbance. Chief Desmond said he witnessed the arrest, but did not hear any disturbance and knew nothing of the boy swearing at him. Donick was let go.

MADE MILLER MAD.

Exciting Scene Between Hurst and the Browns' Captain.

THEY ALMOST CAME TO BLOWS AFTER YESTERDAY'S GAME.

Miller's Criticism on the Umpire's Action in Putting Him Out of the Game Led Up to It—Denny Lyons' Dirty Ball Playing—Dr. Rice's Work at Washington Park—General Sporting.

An exciting scene took place between Umpire Hurst and Capt. Miller in the players' dressing-room at Sportsman's Park after yesterday's game. Miller, who was indignant because he had been put out of the game in the fourth inning for questioning Hurst's decisions, made some harsh comments on Tim's course for which he was promptly called down. Both men were soon at fever heat and for a time it seemed probable that blows would be exchanged. Each made the assertion that he could whip the other, and several times a fist was shaken under a nose in a most threatening way. When Miller asserted that Hurst had run from a fellow in Pittsburg, Tim pulled $100 and offered to bet that sum that "Miller was a liar." Neither man showed the white feather yesterday, and a blow would have led to as pretty a scrap as one could wish to see. The trouble began when Miller questioned the correctness of Hurst's decision on balls and strikes in the second inning. They had a wrangle at the time, and Hurst claims that he fined Miller $10 on that occasion. In the fourth inning Miller fielded a slow in-field hit to first. The batter, Elmer Smith, who is a fast man, and the ball reached the base at about the same time. It was at best a close decision and Hurst gave it in Smith's favor. He gave Frank safe in the ninth inning on the same kind of a play. Miller went on the run toward Hurst and protested against the decision. Hurst refused to change it and ordered Miller to go back to his position. George persisted, and when Hurst told him that he would put him out of the game the Browns' captain said he could not. "Either go to your place or the bench," was the ultimatum, and when Miller kept on kicking he was ordered out of the game. Miller made a mistake in pressing the limit. He had been instructed by President Von der Ahe to do more kicking, and the Browns' captain followed instructions too closely. Kicking should be stopped by umpires, and Hurst's firmness will have a tendency to put an end to it. He allowed the Pittsburgs to question his decisions too much, however.

Pitcher Killen of the Pittsburg Club has an idea which has, at least, the merit of originality. The Pirates' south-paw has suffered along with the other box-artists this season and is anxious for a reduction of the pitcher's distance to fifty feet. "If the magnates won't do that, let them legislate so that there will be two boxes on every diamond, one fifty and the other fifty-five feet from the home plate. Let the home pitcher use the fifty-foot box and the visiting pitcher the farther one. Then you'll see the home teams win a majority of their games and in that way stimulate interest in the sport. As each team plays as many games abroad as on its own grounds, there would be no unfairness in my scheme. Cranks don't like to see the home pitcher hammered anyway, but are tickled to death when the other fellow is cannonaded. Oh, but say, just imagine me having a fifty-yard chance at the guys who are making a monkey of me now. Wouldn't I make suckers of them? Well, I guess yes."

Denny Lyons turned a contemptible trick in yesterday's game which had much to do with robbing the Browns of the game. Twineham, who had reached second in the fourth inning on a double, started for the plate when Mason singled to center. Lyons made a bluff of tripping Twineham as he made the turn at third, and had not the Browns' catcher checked up there is no telling what Pittsburg's star exponent of dirty ball playing would have done. As it was, Twineham was touched just as he reached the plate and was declared out by Hurst, who said after the game that he was watching the ball in the expectation that Mason would try for second. A better argument for the double umpire system cannot be found than this instance affords. Hurst does not claim that Twineham was not interfered with, but says that as he did not see the play, he could not pass upon it. Lyons should be watched by an umpire. His reputation is that of a dirty ball player. He has no friends or admirers in St. Louis, where he played with the old Browns. He should have been fined heavily and put out of yesterday's game for his tough practices.

The disgraceful affair on the Philadelphia grounds yesterday will have a tendency to put a stop to dilatory practice and kicking. The spectators who go to ball games, are often witnesses of childish and disgraceful exhibitions.

It is a wonder that the occurrence at Philadelphia is the first of the year. With the score at 2 to 1 in their favor in the eighth the Bostons resorted to dilatory measures, as it looked like it might rain at any moment. They refused to put the Phillies out and the latter had to resort to violations of the rules to retire themselves. When the champions refused to continue the game, Umpire Campbell properly declared it forfeited to Philadelphia. When Tucker went to get his glove he was set upon and beaten by a mob. Among other injuries his cheek-bone was broken. The Philadelphia players saved the champions from further violence until the arrival of police reinforcements. The attack was indefensible, but the provocation was great.

Yesterday's Games.

The Browns were beaten by the Pittsburgs yesterday under exasperating circumstances. Young Mason held his opponents down in fine shape, but Ely's failure to stop a ground ball in the eighth, on which a double play could have easily been worked, was fatal. Miller's kicking on two occasions resulted in his being sent to the bench in the fourth inning, Dowd playing second and Breitenstein right field for the rest of the game. The score: Pittsburg, 8; St. Louis, 4. Base hits—Pittsburg, 10; St. Louis, 16. Errors—Pittsburg, 3; St. Louis, 3. The other games resulted as follows:

At Baltimore—Baltimore, 13; Brooklyn, 4.

At New York—New York, 7; Washington, 2.

At Cincinnati—Cleveland, 16; Cincinnati, 7.

At Philadelphia—Philadelphia, 12; Boston, 2.

At Chicago—Chicago, 8; Louisville, 5.

The League Race.

The standing of the Leage clubs at noon today was as follows:

Boston	46	25	.648	Cincinnati	31	37	.456

To-Morrow's Game.

Anson and his Colts will be here to-morrow to open up a series of three championship games against the Browns. Anson's aggregation is now playing good ball. Old Hutchinson will in all probability pitch for Chicago and Breitenstein or Clarkson for the Browns. It will be ladies' day to-morrow, admission to the grounds and grand-stand being free to the fair sex. Play will be called at 3:45 o'clock. The teams will be as follows:

ST. LOUIS.	Position.	CHICAGO.
Breitenstein	Pitcher	Hutchinson
Peitz	Catcher	Kittredge
Connor	First Base	Anson
Miller	Second Base	Parrott
Ely	Short Stop	Dahlen
O'Rourke	Third Base	Irwin
Frank	Left Field	Wilmot
Shugart	Center Field	Decker
Dowd	Right Field	Ryan

Among the Amateurs.

St. Leo's K. F. M. nine defeated the Visitation Sodality nine on the Christian Brothers' grounds Sunday, by a score of 9 to 4. They would like to hear from some good outside club for Sunday, July 22. Hillsboro, Litchfield and Staunton, Ill., preferred. Address Dr. J. T. Spreghan, 1500 North Twenty-third street.

The Aavis would like to hear from all clubs in the 17-year-old class, for Sunday games. Address 2318 Madison street.

The games scheduled for next Sunday at Compton Avenue Park are as follows: Morning, Willows vs. Fuller & Warrens. Afternoon, Wimblers vs. Meyers.

The West End Grays would like to have a game for Sunday with some 16-year-old team in Lewis place. Address Jno. Gillis, 762 Euclid avenue.

The J. L. Hudsons go to Jefferson City Sunday to play the crack team of that place. Young Fassil, the Hudsons' new find, will pitch to Kinsella's catching.

The Matt Sprouls of Sparta, Ill., defeated the Cyclones of Red Bud Sunday at Evansville by a score of 9 to 2.

To-Day's Games.

Pittsburgs at St. Louis.

Bostons at Philadelphia.

Louisvilles at Chicago.

Brooklyns at Baltimore.

Washingtons at New York.

Base Ball Notes.

Breitenstein made a pretty running catch in short right field in the sixth.

The name of Pittsburg's attenuated catcher is McGillicuddy. It was abbreviated to Mack by newspaper men in self-defense. Bierbauer, when a member of the Athletics, was known as Bauer.

Jack Glasscock always keeps his wits about him. His steal of third when Twineham threw to first to catch was neatly done.

Red Ehret kicked against several of Umpire Hurst's decisions in an offensive way, but no fine was imposed.

Peitz was compelled to retire after the third inning on account of illness. He is very weak and should be kept out of the game until his complete recovery.

Connor was unable to time the slow balls with which Ehret fed him. A hit by Roger either in the third or ninth inning would have won the game.

Frank beat out a hit to Glasscock in the ninth inning by the best sprinting he has ever done on the home grounds.

Pitcher Mason made a most promising debut. His batting was unexpectedly good. He hit the ball hard every time he faced Ehret. He only secured one hit, however.

Gleason got away with his first game for Baltimore in good shape. He was batted safely ten times but kept the hits well apart except in the third inning.

Tim O'Rourke played good ball yesterday. He knocked down several hot ones in first-class style.

Mason will take his turn in the box regularly now. He is a comer.

The official score book only costs a nickel, and the coupon attached to it entitles the purchaser to a POST-DISPATCH without extra cost.

Shugart made a daring steal from third base to the plate yesterday while Pitcher Ehret held the ball.

Miller could have won the game had he not allowed his instructions to kick to carry him beyond bounds.

Ely made an error yesterday which gave Pittsburg two runs and the game. Fred has won so many games that the cranks do not mind his losing one occasionally.

Clifton Terrace Selected.

The local committee in charge of the Regatta of the Mississippi Valley Amateur Rowing Association to be held on Aug. 3 and 4, met last night and decided upon Clifton Terrace, instead of Burlington Lake or Alton Slough, as the course. The latter, as already published, has a sand-bar running across the center of it. Local oarsmen are in daily training for the event and it is predicted that records will be broken. The Westerns received a new double and four-oared shell yesterday. The twenty-six prizes are now on exhibition. They attract much attention and are more valuable than those given at any previous regatta of the association.

GOSSIP FOR TURFITES.

Dr. Rice's Work at Washington Park—Jimmy Shields' "Good Thing."

Dr. Rice's failure to even show in his race at Washington Park yesterday was a big disappointment to the St. Louis admirers of Foster's Brooklyn handicap winner. After figuring to win among the field he encountered in the Columbus handicap, the local form players could not understand why such a liberal price could be had against him yesterday. His performance Saturday was, of course, very unsatisfactory, but so was that of Rudolph and Wildwood. With 120 pounds up, Dr. Rice was choked off Saturday in the first mile, which was run in 1:39½. With 128 pounds up he was conceding all kinds of weights to his competitors yesterday and the result showed that he had bitten off too big a chunk to digest comfortably. The smart bookmakers in the Washington Park ring must have figured out his price on this basis. Jordan took the doctor to the front early in the route and showed the way for the first mile, which was made in 1:39¾. Then he disappeared under his 128 pounds. That Onandaga's son is a clever handicap performer no one can deny, but he is not the great horse by any means that Foster's friends claimed he was after his victory in the Brooklyn handicap. He caught the Eastern cracks unprepared on that occasion. Horses like Sir Walter and Henry of Navarre would lose him now.

Successful jockeys have always been scarcer than good horses, and the turfman who controls the services of a first class rider has a much surer chance of making big money than the owner of a good horse. Jimmy Shields, Billy Roller's partner, has the well known lightweight, Harry Griffin, bound to him until he is legally of age. Shields took Griffin when he was an unknown boy and developed him into the crack jockey he is to-day. Since he became a great rider, Griffin has been the means of earning Shields many thousands of dollars, and it can be truthfully said that for the time and labor he spent developing the boy, the horseman has been handsomely rewarded over and over again. When in the city last winter with Griffin, Shields told Dannie Hudson that Gideon & Daly had offered him $10,000 for second call on the boy's services this season. This arrangement permits Shields to ride the boy on his own horses whenever he wants, while Gideon & Daly pay him a cool $1,000 for riding Griffin in races where he (Shields) has no entries. In addition to Shields' retainer fee, Gideon & Daly must of course pay Griffin his regular riding fee.

Sammy Doggett and Willie Simms came together on Candelabra and Don Alonzo in the Brighton Beach handicap yesterday and after a terrific battle through the stretch made a dead heat for first money. The Dwyer horse was conceding Candelabra nineteen pounds and the difference in weight was undoubtedly the cause of Don Alonzo failing to finish first. Pittsburg Phil, as usual, backed Candelabra heavily. Immediately after the race the owner of Candelabra wisely concluded to split the purse. He no doubt remembered the treatment Gideon & Daly received at the hands of Mike Dwyer, when their Suburban handicap winner, Ramapo, made a dead heat with the Brooklyn turfman's Banquet. The best any outside owner can get from the Eastern turf nabobs is the worst of it.

• • •

Logan has gone back considerably or the Eastern handicap horses greatly outclass their Western rivals. At the Fair Grounds Logan divided the honors with Ray S. as being the second best handicap horse at the track to Yo Tambien. On the occasion of the great Kendall stable mare's last appearance here, Logan ran a good second to her. His showing in this race led many local turfites to back him at Coney Island and Brighton Beach. The best he has done, however, since leaving here was to win a cheap race on the turf from Long Beach and Top Gallant. With light weight up yesterday he finished nowhere to horses like Candelabra, Don Alonzo and Comanche, who belong to the second division of handicap performers in the East.

Track Talk.

It is estimated that Fred Foster has won over $75,000 with Dr. Rice, who originally cost him $5,000. This was not a bad investment by any means.

Secretary McIntyre announces that the American Jockey Club will begin a fifteen day meeting at Jerome Park Aug. 8. There will also be a fall meeting of at least ten days, which will begin in the last week of September.

Hawthorne will open immediately after Washington Park closes, and then the new Chicago track will take a week at racing. There will be at least 600 horses at the two tracks.

W. L. Elwood, Dekalb, Ill., has recently bought of Kinney Bros., Omaha, Neb., the 3-year-old colt Tom Miller, 2:24¾, by Williams, and the 2-year-old Flora Darling, a full sister to Tom Miller.

Nearly every jockey club in the organization is expected to be represented at the turf congress meeting in Chicago to-day. It is understood that the California Jockey Club will apply for a membership in the congress.

English Turf Events.

LONDON, July 18.—At Newmarket to-day the Setland plate of 500 sovereigns, added to a sweepstakes of 10 sovereigns each for 3-year-olds, was won by Baron De Rothchilds' Styx. Sir R. W. Griffith's Sweet Duchess was second and Mr. Henry Milton's Mecca third. The July handicap of 10 sovereigns each, with 600 sovereigns added, for 3-year-olds and upward, was won by Mr. Manton's Beggars' Opera, Mr. R. Combe's Nvermore second, and Prince Saltykoff's Woolsthorp third.

Sporting Notes.

The Vigilant succeeded in defeating the Britannia at last.

Conlon and Wiseman, who are to meet at a pugilistic river excursion next month, are training faithfully.

The American colony in London gave the members of the defeated Yale athletic team a banquet last night.

The prizes to be contested for at the National Circuit Bicycle meet at Chicago on Aug. 2, 3 and 4, are valued at $2,580.

Before he met Peter Maher, Frank Craig, the "Harlem Coffee Cooler," thought Con Riordan, Peter Johnson's ex-sparring partner, was beneath his notice. It is very probable that he would now be only too glad for a "go" with Riordan.

Eddie Miller talks about fighting Dannie Daly for a purse in reply to the latter's challenge in the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH. In his defy Daly distinctly stated that he wanted to do battle for $250 a side and if Miller means business he should come to time with the necessary backing.

POOR PUNCH.

Billingsley's Pet Pug Laid to Rest in Beautiful Bellefontaine.

He Occupies a Grave in the Family Lot.

A QUIET FUNERAL ATTENDED ONLY BY THE FAMILY.

The Interment Took Place Monday and Punch Is Probably the Only Dog Whose Bones Rest Beneath Bellefontaine's Green Sward—Officials of the Cemetery State That There Is No Objection to Canine Funerals Where the Interment Is in Private Family Lots.

Although there had been no death notice published in the papers and no sign of mourning attached to the portals of the house there was nevertheless a simple and unostentatious funeral last Monday afternoon from the home of Mrs. Fanny L. Billingsley, widow of the late Rolla L. Billingsley, No. 8102 Washington avenue. On the day preceding, just as the angelus bell was tolling the close of day from the belfry of the College Church there was a sad group gathered about a quivering little form lying on a cot in the Billingsley household. There was not a dry eye among them and no word was spoken until the little sufferer gave one last look at those around his bedside, gasped faintly and then closed his large black eyes never to open them again. Then a choking voice sobbed out, "Poor little Punch is dead."

It was only too true, poor little Punch, the pet of the Billingsleys had breathed his last.

Punch had been a member of the family from infancy. He was nothing but a little pug dog, but he had endeared himself to all who knew him and they loved him as one who had all the virtues with none of the vices of man. He had lived far beyond the term of life usually alotted to pug dogs and had become old and infirm, but his very helplessness endeared him the more to the members of the Billingsley family. Every whim of the old fellow's reclining years was gratified, and he need but give the slightest intimation of any wish to have any member of the family cheerfully grant it. The whole household was at his service. Verily, Punch was a lucky dog.

THE BURIAL OF PUNCH.

The next morning after his sad demise, Mr. Thomas F. Grierson, the liveryman, was called in and asked to make all necessary arrangements for giving the remains of Punch proper interrment in the Billingsley family lot in Bellefontaine.

A coffin was procured and Punch laid peacefully to rest within. The family took a last sad parting look, the lid was closed and the coffin borne to a carriage in waiting at the door. Four members of the household accompanied the remains to Bellefontaine, where a small grave, which had been dug in the Billingsley family lot, was ready to receive them. When the little mound was made over all that remained of Punch, the fresh earth was wet with tears and a few flowers strewn upon the grave. There was no funeral oration, but never was man or dog interred in the presence of a more sincere group of mourners.

It is said a white slab will be placed at the foot on which will be inscribed a tribute to the memory of poor little Punch.

THE RIGHT TO BURY DOGS.

Samuel Copp, Secretary of the Bellefontaine Cemetery Association said he did not know of the dog having been buried in the cemetery and did not know of any other dog ever being buried there. He did not believe any had been since he had been secretary of the cemetery.

Application for the digging of a grave would have to be made to the superintendent at the cemetery and not to the Secretary's office. While Mr. Copp knew of no precedent of a dog being interred at the cemetery, he knew of no serious objection which could be made to parties burying one in their own private lot if they saw fit to do so.

SLAVES AS A PRECEDENT.

Supt. A. Hotchkiss was not at the cemetery office when the reporter called. One of the employes, who declined to give his name, said there was no record of the burial of a dog Monday or any other time, in the cemetery. "I suppose if anyone desired to bury a dog, he or she would go out with a coachman and do it. No permit is necessary. People are allowed to do as they please in their lots if there is no rule to the contrary. I do not recall any dog being buried here. In olden days slaves were buried in Bellefontaine in private lots, and they were legally regarded as property."

He said he did not know but supposed the association would draw the line at pet horses and cows.

FOR ENTERING ALIEN LABOR.

Grand-Jury Indictment of a Buffalo Asphalt Superintendent.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 18.—The Grand-jury has reported an indictment against Henry J. Warren, Superintendent of the Barber Asphalt Co., for entering alien labor on city work, contrary to the law passed by the last Legislature, which prohibits the employment of any but citizens on State or Municipal work.

TO ROME AND LOURDES.

Departure of the Catholic Pilgrimage From New York.

NEW YORK, July 18.—The Catholic pilgrimage to Rome and Lourdes left here to-day on the steamships Noordland and Paris. Catholics of fourteen States were represented among the voyagers. The main party is accompanied by Rev. Fr. Porcil, Chaplain of the Monastery of the Precious Blood of Brooklyn. Every berth on the Noordland is occupied by the pilgrims and 100 in addition on the Paris. The delegation took with it a magnificent silken banner, which will be blessed by the Pope on the arrival of the pilgrims in Rome in August. The obverse is a tri-color, while on the reverse are the stars and stripes. After it has received the blessing it will be carried to Lourdes, where it is intended to permanently decorate the Church of the Grotto. Its cost has been met by contributions from Catholics throughout the country. Fr. Porcil takes with him a locked casket containing requests from donors who are unable to accompany the pilgrims, which will be placed on the shrine.

Cut by His Wife.

During a fight last night between Walter Sutton and his wife Nellie, both colored, the former was slashed across the shoulders and breast by the latter. The fight took place at their home, 4159 Lexington avenue. He went to the City Hospital, but was released after his injuries were dressed and found not to be dangerous.

Assault on a Police Officer.

A warrant was issued to-day against Charles Norman, an alleged striker, charging him with assault to do bodily harm on Officer Philip Walsh. Norman was at Sixth and Spruce streets last Sunday night and got into a dispute with the officer, whom, it is alleged, he hit on the head, severely injuring him.

No Quorum on Coinage.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—A quorum of the Coinage Committee failed to appear to-day in response to Chairman Bland's call for a meeting to report a free silver bill. The free silver men are not sanguine of their ability to report a bill this session.

SLAIN BY HIS DAUGHTER.

The Punishment of John Aschbacker for Abusing His Wife.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 18.—Mrs. T. F. Meagher, 32 years old, shot and killed her father, John Aschbacker, to-day at No. 1425 Washington street. Mrs. Meagher fired three shots at Mr. Aschbacker, only one of which took effect. The ball entered Aschbacker's heart and he died instantly.

Achbacker was abusing his wife when shot by his daughter. He had beaten and kicked her in an unmerciful manner. Mrs. Aschbacker is now in bed and said to be dying from the kick in the stomach inflicted by the brutal husband.

After the murder Mrs. Meagher drove to the jail with her husband and delivered herself up to the authorities.

FREDA BAUER.

Evidence Given in the Habeas Corpus Proceedings To-Day.

Testimony was heard to-day in the habeas corpus case brought by Emma Bauer to secure the custody of her stepdaughter, Freda Bauer, who is now in the custody of Valentine Weisenmeyer and his wife. Mrs. Bauer claims that the Weisenmeyers have no right to the custody of the child, and that the custody is hers because of the relationship. Mr. Weisenmeyer claims that the child was left in his care by Mr. Bauer previous to his death and that at that time Mr. Bauer asked that the child be kept by him until she was of age.

Mrs. Bauer, who could not speak English, gave her testimony in German, which was translated by Mr. Rassieur. She told a tale of abuse and maltreatment on the part of Mr. Bauer, and how, upon one occasion, he flourished a pistol in a very threatening manner. Mrs. Bauer left her husband, she says, sometime before he died because of his habitual drunkenness and constant threats of violence. There was a good deal of testimony on both sides all in German, which necessitated translation.

A recess was taken at 1 o'clock until 2:15 p. m., when the hearing of evidence was resumed. The arguments were not concluded until a late hour in the afternoon.

MRS. SPECHT IS ANGRY

Because Her Husband Published Her Private Correspondence.

Mrs. Joseph Specht, authoress, Theosophist, one of the Seven Ladies of the Chamber in the Gunston Hall cult, and plaintiff in a divorce suit, was not so amiable this morning as she sometimes is. Her temper had been ruffled by the publication of her private correspondence. After she ran away from Gunston Hall, Mr. Specht, in searching for a clew to the whereabouts of his wife, found a bunch of letters concealed in an old sofa. Some of them were written by Mrs. W. L. B. G. Allen, another of High Priest Howard's disciples, in which Mrs. Allen urges Mrs. Specht to separate from her husband and remain steadfast to Dr. Howard and Sat B'hal Koo'ma. Mr. Specht gave the letters to Washington newspaper correspondents and addressed a sharp letter to Mrs. Allen's husband, requesting the latter to exercise his authority over his wife and prevent her from again communicating with Mrs. Specht. "I will hold you responsible for any consequences," Mr. Specht writes Mr. Allen, and in concluding his letter says: "It appears to be the peculiar business of Howard and his insane or wicked associates to disrupt families. I have had too much of this, and intend to put a stop to it at once." Publication of these letters, together with an offensive interview with Mr. Morrey, her son-in-law, who sides with Mr. Specht, caused Mrs. Specht to get so angry that she would not even see a reporter, who called at the Morrey residence this morning. Mrs. Morrey, who in a letter says she is "shocked at papa's brutal action" and predicts that "his future will be something dreadful," also declined to come down stairs.

Mr. Allen is an electrical contractor, with an office in the Roe Building. Up to 2 o'clock this afternoon he had not received Mr. Specht's letter. He said he did not know what reply he would make or whether he would make any. When asked to what extent he considered himself liable for a letter written by Mrs. Allen he simply laughed. Mrs. Allen is pursuing literary work in New York. Mr. Allen says his family has not been broken up by Dr. Howard.

LEFT HER HOME.

Mysterious Disappearance of a Farmer's Daughter Near Sedalia.

LEFT THE HOUSE WHILE THE FAMILY SLEPT LAST SUNDAY NIGHT.

Her Name Is Cora Smith—Young and Pretty—Relatives of the Missing Girl Cannot Account for Her Action—The Brothers' Statement—Police Looking for Clews.

SEDALIA, Mo., July 18.—Up to noon to-day no trace had been found of Miss Cora Smith, who so strangely disappeared from her home three days ago, although every effort to find her has been made by relatives and police officials.

Miss Smith is the daughter of D. R. Smith, who lives on the M. O. Green farm, nine miles southeast of Sedalia. She is 17 years old, dark complexioned, has dark hair and is quite pretty.

The story of her disappearance, as told by the young lady's brothers, Robert and Frank Smith, who came to Sedalia in search of her, is as follows:

On Sunday morning last when the family arose Cora was missed. A search at once showed that she had departed during the night. A bureau in her sleeping room had been pulled away from the window through which she had jumped to the ground. She had taken away all her clothing, among which was a silk dress belonging to her sister. From the yard to the dusty highway her footprints could be plainly traced. They ceased where a buggy had been driven to one side of the road. The vehicle had come from the direction of Sedalia, and had gone toward Smithton.

Her brothers stated that they were at an utter loss to account for her disappearance. She had never kept company with any one, had always been at home and had been in correspondence with no one as far as they knew. She had always made a confidant of her mother, who is now almost crazed with grief. The young lady has several sisters with whom she had always been lovingly intimate. The only theory advanced by them is that she has gone away with a man named Melvin Davis.

But this is mere theory, and there are no facts of importance to base it upon. Davis has lived in Sedalia for the past year or two, and is a widower. He is about 45 years of age. For years he has known the Smith family and during the past two months has called frequently at the home. He played upon the violin and the young lady would accompany him on the organ. Last Saturday afternoon he left a Mr. Driscoe's, near Smithton, with his valise, and said that he was going to Indiana. He has not been seen since.

The only reason, apparently, for bringing the name of Mr. Davis into the matter is that the brothers of Miss Smith can suggest no other theory.

They laid the case before the Chief of Police, who is making an effort to trace their sister's movements. Telegrams have been sent to St. Louis and other cities and the police requested to keep a lookout for the young lady.

STANDS BY CORPORATIONS.

Attorney Dennis Astonished at Mr. Olney's Change of Views.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 18.—United States District Attorney Dennis manifested great surprise when shown Atty.-Gen. Olney's utterances on the suit Mr. Dennis brought on Tuesday against the Southern Pacific Co. of Kentucky, in which Olney holds that the combination is a legal one. He said: "It is impossible that the opinion can be held in the Department of Justice that the combinations referred to in the bill in equity I filed between the Southern Pacific Company of Kentucky and the corporation mentioned is legal. The point against its legality has been time and again argued in the United States Supreme Court by the Government, and the only reason, in my judgment, why the Supreme Court has not held such a combination to be unlawful is that it decided cases where the point was raised in favor of the Government on other grounds. Of course, I cannot tell you what the Attorney-General understands about the matter, but I wired him on Friday, substantially telling him that evidence was in our possession of an unlawful combination in restraint of trade by the Southern Pacific company and asking for authority for bringing the suit under an act of July 2, 1890, against unlawful combinations. He wired next morning: 'Let act of July 2, 1890, be enforced against all violators, including railway and transportation companies. You are hereby authorized to bring suits to that end.' Relying on that dispatch and the fact that it is a matter of public notoriety that the Southern Pacific company has so combined with various corporations, the whole being styled the Southern Pacific company of Kentucky, Mr. Call and myself could see no more appropriate time to enforce this all-but-forgotten law. I was fully prepared for the Southern Pacific, taking every step that I could think of to save itself, but I did not expect them to question my right to bring such a suit, with the Attorney-General, before I could even report to him and submit a copy of the bill by mail. I am absolutely sure he will approve my course when he has an opportunity to read my report of facts to him."

STOPPED RE-GAUGING.

Whisky Trust Distilleries Have Six Gaugers Let Out.

The two Whisky Trust distilleries in this city, the Missouri and the Central, stopped regauging their warehouse stock to-day, and obliged the Internal Revenue Department to recall six of the nine gaugers employed at these distilleries. For some time the trust has been preparing for heavy withdrawals in order to avoid payment of the increased tax on spirits, fixed by the Wilson bill. To-day these preparations ceased. Private information from Washington is believed to be the cause.

For Congress.

At Savannah, Ga., Lester Lee was renominated for his fourth term in Congress from the First Georgia District.

At Emporia, Kan., Thomas J. O'Neal of Osage County was nominated for Congress yesterday by the Fourth District Democratic Convention.

In Hammond, Ind., a convention of Republican bolters of the Tenth District was held yesterday and Judge Wm. Johnston of Valparaiso was nominated for Congress.

The Republicans of the Twelfth Ohio District yesterday nominated Gen. D. K. Watson of Franklin County for Congress.

The Republicans of the Seventeenth Congressional District of Ohio nominated Capt. McClure of Wayne County. The Tuscarawas delegates fought his nomination, but to no purpose.

The Democrats of the new Eleventh Illinois Congressional District nominated Judge John R. Gibbons of Princeton, Bureau County. There were four other candidates. The vote by which Gibbons was selected was unanimous. Gen. Gibbons is present Probate Judge of Bureau County, and is considered a strong man on account of his friendly relations with the miners.

The Republican Congressional Convention of the Fourteenth Illinois District nominated Joseph V. Groff of Tazewell.

Rev. W. C. Willey of White County was nominated as the Prohibitionist candidate for Congress in the Twentieth District, Illinois, and William H. Hughes of Wabash County was at the same time nominated as their candidate for Representative for the Fourty-fourth Senatorial District.

They Were Badly Mixed.

From the Indianapolis Sentinel.

Three bosom friends started out one evening to have a good time, and when the time for going home came they were so drunk that walking at all was difficult. They finally reached the home of Brown and made noise enough to waken the neighborhood. A window was raised and a feminine voice said:

"What on earth's wanted?"

In thickened accents came the answer:

"Will Miss Brown pleech come down and pick out her husband?"

The Patrons of Royal Baking Powder

Are advised to write their orders upon their grocer, specifying the fact that ROYAL BAKING POWDER is wanted, and no other.

Surreptitious efforts are being made by the manufacturers of inferior brands to induce clerks and carriers to substitute their goods where consumers are using and desire the Royal.

There is no other compound or mixture that can take the place of ROYAL BAKING POWDER, or that will make cake, biscuit, griddle-cakes, doughnuts, bread, etc., so light, sweet, palatable and wholesome.

Examine the label, and if another brand has been sent you instead of the ROYAL, send it back.

SAID HE WAS AN A. P. A.

William T. Crossley Makes the Admission in Court.

William T. Crossley of 209 West Stein street, an insurance agent, stated on the witness stand in the Court of Criminal Correction to-day in a case in which he was prosecuting James Frazier and his wife, Maggie, James Hutchinson and Mrs. Mary Benecke on a charge of assault and battery, that he was a member of the A. P. A. and that that was the reason that the defendants were annoying him. The Fraziers, Hutchinson and Mrs. Benecke are related and live near Crossley, who charged that the four came to his house and assaulted him. He had a warrant issued and employed Attorney Thomas H. Peabody of the law firm of Bentley & Peabody to prosecute the case. It was brought out in the evidence of the defendants that the trouble was of A. P. A. origin. Crossley was questioned on the matter when he took the stand and stated that he was an A. P. A. The defendants were discharged. When the case was dismissed the female defendants in the case gathered around Crossley and Peabody, and for a time it looked as though there would be trouble. Sheriff Sheehy's raps for order, however, produced quiet.

ARE ZOLA'S WORKS OBSCENE?

Question the Boston Library Trustees Will Decide for Customs Officials.

From the Boston Globe.

Are Zola's works obscene literature?

This is a question which the public library trustees will decide probably at the meeting of the board next Tuesday.

Some time ago eighteen of Zola's novels were imported for a Northampton collector, and when they came to the Custom-house here the question was raised as to their admissibility.

The law says that no obscene literature shall be imported.

Some of the custom-house officials determined that they would examine the books for themselves, which they did.

After having read them the censors of the custom-house were unable to decide whether the works were obscene or not, and appealed to the officials of the Treasury Department at Washington. They replied there was no precedent in regard to Zola. The Collector of the port must decide for himself.

The trustees of the Public Library were then appealed to.

Mr. Knapp, the assistant librarian, said yesterday that the trustees had allowed but few of Zola's books to be circulated.

LIKE A BASIN OF WATER.

The Mirage That Has Attracted Attention at Twelfth and Wyandotte Streets.

From the Kansas City Journal.

The attention of a Journal reporter was yesterday called to a curious phenomenon to be witnessed at the corner of Twelfth and Wyandotte streets. It is a form of mirage visible when the sun is shining, and at its best between the hours of 1 and 2 o'clock.

By standing at the northwest corner of these two streets in such a position as to bring the eye almost in line with the slope of Twelfth street east of Wyandotte, the sidewalk opposite, adjoining the Kansas City Club, is made to appear like a basin of water, even to the motion of small waves.

So real is the likeness that there is a clear reflection of the surrounding objects. As far East as Main street people approaching are in part mirrored in the water, and people crossing Main street can be readily seen reflected in the sidewalk. Here is a chance for an explanation by some one who has studied the phenonenon of mirage.

ALL EUROPE READY FOR WAR.

The Great Nations Prepared for a Declaration of Hostilities.

After the dreadful Franco-German war of 1870-1871 the principle of prolonged military service and of diminished annual contingents was given up, says McClure's Magazine. The monstrous principle of universal service was adopted instead. By this principle the whole nation is under arms. A country is no longer a country, a people is no longer a people; a nation is now nothing but an army, and a country is only a barrack. Everybody is sur le qui vive. If war breaks out to-day all professions become deserted, all functions abandoned; the life of the nation stops so that national activity may be said to begin again only with the blood that is shed. Moreover, before two hostile armies, that is, two nations when are enemies, join in combat, each of the two armies, that is, each of the two infinite hords which traverse their several countries to meet eventually on the field of battle, will leave behind it a country in famine, its factories silent and its trade paralyzed. Again, enormous stocks of food supplies must be accumulated on the frontier where the two armies are likely to meet; but before reaching these inexhaustible magazines the army must be fed while crossing their own territories, and that requires money. So, that, before even the first gun is fired, each army will have expended enormous sums and left in its train towns and villages stripped of men and beasts, the cities in famine, the country without a single tiller of the field.

A COLLAPSING MOUNTAIN.

Remarkable Geological Phenomenon and Its Fatal Results.

From La Unidad Nacional.

About one and one-half miles from the town of Rio Blanco, State of Canca, Colombia, a remarkable geological phenomenon has recently created great excitement. A mountain ridge, called Cerror de Cruz Loma, suddenly cast a large part of its upper levels into neighboring rivers, carrying death and destruction in its wake.

For some days before, prolonged subterranean sounds—a sort of hoarse rumbling and roaring—were heard, indicating that something serious was about to occur, and on the date mentioned the upper part of the hill suddenly caved in, the enormous quantity of earth descending to and obstructing the course of the rivers Guachicono, Molino and others. It is feared that the overflow of the rivers will occasion an extensive inundation, or that breaking away the earth dam, whole villages and valuable properties will be destroyed. As an immediate result of this occurrence twelve persons were killed, besides a large number of horses and cattle.

It seems only natural to attribute this phenomenon to the eruption of the Sotara volcano which for some time has been observed to be covered with snow-like vapor and clouds. The departmental Government, justly alarmed by this occurrence, has appointed a commission of engineers to investigate the matter.

Paderewski's Account of Himself.

Paderewski, the pianist, says of himself: "When I am to appear in public I keep perfectly quiet during the preceding hours. I practice calisthenics immediately after rising every day. I eat with great appetite and am not in the least a difficult man to cater for. When my recitals are over I feel that a weight has been lifted off my mind, and then I love to join in any amount of fun. I practice at all hours of the day and night—sometimes all night, for I have no set of rules for working. I am never, by any chance without a piano, and very often practice between the courses at meals or while I am dressing. I suffer from insomnia consequent to the great strain on my nerves, and, although it is not noticeable to the general public, I am a martyr to nervousness. I go through positive tortures when I contemplate playing. I have schooled myself to absolutely subdue my feelings or they would rise to such a pitch as to prevent my having the least control over my fingers."

THE United States Senate grows more aggravating every day it sits.

GENERAL REMORSE is doing heavy campaigning in the Ashland District.

A PHOTOGRAPH of a Senator's sugar order is better evidence than a Senator's negative.

NEW YORK'S new Republican Police Commissioner is a Platt man. The bosses are not dead yet.

OLNEY has demonstrated that he can be an excellent lawyer and a vigorous prosecutor when he wants to.

"THERE will be a quiet revolution at the ballot box," says Mr. Debs. This is the only sort of a revolution for Americans to attempt.

WHAT would the unctuous Breckinridge do without [illegible] Bible from which to cull precedents of the slips and sufferings of the Saints?

"NO MAN is above the law," said Judge Grosscup. It is a pity that it should be necessary to say this to an American Grand-jury.

MR. PULLMAN has presented a piece of the Fort Dearborn massacre tree to the Illinois State Library. What will he do with the relics of the recent Chicago massacre?

THE hardening process of the Homestead mills has failed to make the armor plates impenetrable, but the makers of the big gun are afraid to try it on the cheeks of the proprietors.

DEBS is in prison and the Chicago courts are making a thorough test of the anti-conspiracy law in the case of labor combinations, but there is not a sign of movement in Washington against the trusts.

THE Yale athletes have no reason to feel ashamed of the work in England. Despite British weather and slippery ground they were only beaten by a point. Oxford won on poorer records than the Americans had made.

DUKE PULLMAN says he is surprised at Sherman. And it is something of a surprise to many others to see a Republican statesman bold enough to ask for justice to the people at the hands of a monopoly. It was altogether unexpected.

THE crop of grass on Olive street just west of the Exposition Building is flourishing. But the lawn mower will soon be needed. If the Street Commissioner insists upon having grass on the granite streets it should be kept well trimmed.

IF the useless congressional eulogies on dead Congressmen were printed at the expense of living Congressmen, the distinguished corpses would have to fall back on the newspapers for whatever praises might be due them.

BESIDES his other anti-fats, President Cleveland has the job of studying out this summer the boundary claims over which Brazil and the Argentine Republic are disputing, he having been chosen arbitrator in the matter. Between North American and South American vexations the presidential weight is likely to be greatly modified.

THE romantic suggestion that Robert Lincoln and Fred Grant should be the Republican ticket in '96, it being supposed that "Lincoln and Grant" would carry everything, is not received enthusiastically among G. O. P. leaders. They have full faith in the hard times and a big campaign fund.

A TRAVELER who has been pinched by the Pullman monopoly, and who has doubtless at times viewed matters from the altitude of an upper-berth, demands as an amendment to the Brickner bill a provision that a $10 fine shall be imposed upon any sleeping-car porter charging or accepting more than 10 cents for a shine and dust-off. Let Congress not go to sleep over this amendment.

THE Chicago Tribune has hauled down the American flag which it has kept flying in its columns throughout the riots. Had not the Tribune raised the stars and stripes it is likely that the Windy City would have been swept away in spite of the exertions of the troops and deputies. There is even yet a great deal of disloyalty toward Duke Pullman among newspaper readers.

ROOT OUT THE CORRUPTIONISTS.

In standing firmly against the trust jobs in the Senate tariff bill the House conferrees have taken the only honorable course open to them.

It is stated that the representatives of the Sugar Trust have coolly declared that the tariff bill cannot pass without the sugar schedule adopted by the Senate. The present tariff law is worth $40,000,000 to the trust. The adoption of the Senate tariff would give it profits on taxation to the amount of about $30,000,000. The trust will profit enormously, therefore, by either the defeat of all tariff legislation or the success of the Senate sugar amendment.

The report that the Sugar Trust is willing to spend $5,000,000 to gain either of these ends may well be believed. The trust could afford to spend several times this sum with profit. No one who is familiar with the record of this monster monopoly doubts that it would corrupt the national legislature to secure the privilege of robbing the people. The attitude of the Senate and the scandalous revelations of its Investigating Committee give strong presumption that it has corrupted a controlling clique in that body.

The issue therefore between the House and the Senate is clear. It is reduced to a question of corrupt legislation for the benefit of an illegal combination or honest legislation in behalf of the people. If the Senate is so completely under the influences of this corrupt monopoly that it will reject honest legislation on an open vote the people should know it. They should know the names of the Senators who have sold themselves to the trust.

The Senators should be forced to go on record for or against an honest tariff bill. Let the corruptionists be rooted out.

A TEXAS JEFFREYS.

The plenary power of a court to punish for contempt, unchecked by any co-ordinate branch of the Government, has been put to a severe test by Judge Goodrich in Texas.

He has assumed the right to imprison citizens at will as guilty of contempt when they have been guilty of no disturbance of the court's proceedings, no obstruction of its processes, and have only exercised the citizen's privilege of criticising the Judge as unfit for his position, expressing their opinions, not in the presence of the court but through the newspapers.

Judge Goodrich stretched his authority to punish for contempt by holding that words printed in a newspaper were constructively spoken in the presence of the Court, and that he could wreak his vengeance on those who questioned his decisions or his judicial fairness by putting them in prison during his pleasure, without relief from executive pardon or appeal to any other court.

The Governor assumed that, if he could exercise his pardoning power to prevent the execution of judicial sentence for any other crime, he could pardon men for constructive contempt of court. But Judge Goodrich refused to release the men as pardoned criminals. "As well," he said, "let Anarchy reign, if it be understood that the courts cannot punish for contempt except by permission of a co-ordinate branch of Government."

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, however, has ordered the release of Judge Goodrich's prisoners on bail, pending a decision of that court as to the validity of the Governor's pardon in such cases. As one court will not review another's decision in a contempt case, a decision that only the Judge himself can limit the imprisonment of those he adjudges guilty of contempt will mean a good deal.

It will mean that a people and press free to criticise or accuse any other official, subject only to actions for slander or punishment for libel, are not free to censure the qualifications or conduct of judges; that a judge can take offense at anything said anywhere about him or his rulings, and imprison the offending party as long as he pleases for such constructive contempt of court.

Such a power, coupled with that of issuing omnibus injunctions and restraining orders, would strip American liberty of the armor of Magna Charta, Habeas Corpus and Constitution. It would leave American citizenship without any rights a court could be compelled to respect.

The people cannot too soon place statutory handcuffs on any such judicial power as this, nor can they too soon assume that no judge eager to exercise such power is to be trusted with a seat on the bench of this country.

"HOW DOES it happen," says the Hon. Champ Clark, in his remarks on pensions for the revenue cutter service, "that a man is entitled to an extra 'soft snap' in his old age because he has been in the Government employ during the prime of his life, and at better wages than he could get anywhere else?" No statesman answered this hard question, and doubtless no taxpayer can. In truth, all Government employes should know and practice economy as well as their fellow-citizens.

ONE of Mr. Pullman's newspaper friends says that Mr. Pullman no doubt felt that his personal presence at Chicago would have only inflamed existing antagonisms without any compensating advantage. That is about so. And if anybody was to get hurt it was better that Wicks (or Wickes) should suffer than that Mr. Pullman should be harmed. The precedent set by our Uncle Russell Sage in shielding himself with an inferior, will doubtless be followed by our imperilled men of wealth, titled and untitled. Happily Wickes was miraculously preserved and will have to bring no suits against his superior.

Soldier, would you work?
Soldier, would you shirk?
Soldier, would you face a grizzly b'ar?
Soldier, would you drink?
Soldier, would you shrink
From slumber on a Pullman palace car?

THE POST-DISPATCH MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE PRICE CURRENT, with all its plant, good will and subscription lists, having been sold to O'Connor & Co. of the St. Louis Market Reporter, we take pleasure in commending the latter to its new patrons as worthy of the confidence and patronage of the commercial public.

IN the Hawtrey divorce case in London the defense is made that the co-respondent had kissed the lady when he was a boy, and that his kisses had been kept up as an innocent salutation. British children will have to be looked after a little closer should this case go against the defendant.

IT is a great relief to all good citizens to learn that the bribe of a glass of beer to deputies at the Court-house has been merely to secure better attention. A deputy with a modicum of beer under his belt naturally feels more en rapport with the citizen he is to serve.

MR. GOULD, as the companion of the Prince of Wales and the delight of the nobility of England, can no longer be kept out of New York's swellest society. If Mr. Gould has any gratitude he will turn up his breeches for the rest of his life, whatever may be the state of the weather.

A WEALTHY Cincinnatian has deeded his property to a trustee in order to avoid the inheritance tax. There seems always to be a way to dodge taxes, and those who can best afford to pay them are the first to learn it.

THE President will not allow Mrs. Cleveland to sit for an oil portrait to be displayed with other Government pictures. He doubtless holds that Frances belongs to Grover and not to Washington visitors.

SCORES of bouquets were thrown to Col. Breckinridge by ladies in Kentucky the other day. The Colonel has evidently convinced the fair that he "hollered" as loud as he could.

WARD MCALLISTER is a colored crapshooter in Chicago. All great men get on the police records sooner or later.

STERLING MORTON and Granger Wedderburn will never take a hay ride together while they are on this planet.

Newspaper Enterprise.

From the St. Louis Critic.

When it is remembered that the enormous cost of the issue of a newspaper must in the main be covered by the returns for the advertisements published, and that the "Nine O'Clock Extra" on Sunday night last had no such recourse to fall back upon, the POST-DISPATCH must be credited for its enterprise in giving to the people of St. Louis the latest news from Chicago, at a time when hundreds of our citizens would have been willing to pay telegram rates for news from the seat of war. Such an unselfish catering to the public demand deserves the fullest recognition.

The Keeley Cure.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

One of the morning papers in commenting upon a lamentable tragedy speaks of the strange fatality attending the lives of five young gentlemen of the city who had been to the Keeley Institute at Dwight, four of whom it stated had either killed, or attempted to kill, themselves.

The implied moral is that the Keeley treatment was the cause of their sad conduct.

As a Keeley graduate and as one who firmly and positively believes in the great value of the Keeley treatment I wish to enter a respectful protest against such an implication.

I think I have the right both as a medical man and a patient at Dwight to express an intelligent and possibly somewhat valuable opinion as to the merits of the Keeley treatment.

I took as much of the medicine as almost anyone who ever was so unfortunate as to need such treatment, and my observation of its effects on others was large and comprehensive in character, covering as many as 700 cases in all states and conditions of life, station, age and bodily and mental condition.

I unhesitatingly say, after having watched with some care the later life of these people, that the Keeley treatment is harmless to a remarkable degree.

It is marvelous to me that so many thousands of confirmed and degraded drunkards and opium users in all stages and states of wretchedness, degradation and disease, both of body and mind, could take this or any other treatment with so little distress and loss of life. I would not say that some few persons are not quite ill at Dwight; a few—one or two in a thousand—die while attempting to recuperate from the effect of years of debauchery, but surely that should occasion no surprise.

I do not think that the medicines used have the least injurious effect on the brain or body.

The rapid stoppage of the ordinary stimulants used causes whatever mental symptoms that arise.

There is an actual bewildered state of mind caused by the great transformation of life that is in progress. This soon passes away, and one enjoys such mental and bodily vigor as has been unknown for years.

A KEELEY GRADUATE.

Not Sprinkled.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

As the POST-DISPATCH was the father of the sprinkling bill and tries to see it enforced, how is it that Eighteenth street, between Morgan and Wash is not sprinkled? When the Democratic party was in power there was a hue and cry by the Republicans what they were agoing to do when they got in, but they are doing nothing but shout. Al Wageman, the man that was going to do wonders, has dropped out of sight. He has been notified of the facts and takes no notice of them. Eighteenth street has been sprinkled but twice in three weeks and then but half done. Please shake Mr. Wageman and his deputies up, and see if you can bring them out of their holes.

SUBSCRIBERS.

Heating the School-Houses.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Last night at the meeting of the Building Committee Mr. Lacy, in advocating the claims of the incandescent boiler, said it was the "latest, best and in the long run the most economical." It is the latest, for it is so late that there is but one manufactured, which is now standing in Wangler's boiler shop.

The Wangler Boiler Works have one incandescent boiler at their shops ready to fire up, and it is only a matter of a few dollars to have Prof. Potter take an exhaustive test of it. Then the advocates of this new fangled device will have authentic proofs of what it can do. Has Mr. Wangler, or any one who may be interested in this boiler which takes $5,000 out of the school fund, sufficient confidence in it to put up the money for the test? The School Board better go slow on these incandescent boilers unless it is intended to keep the schools closed during the cold weather next winter.

T. S.

The People's Champion.

Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I voice the sentiment of the people of our locality when I express the hope that all the influence possible be brought to bear upon Mr. O'Neill to induce him to again become a candidate. His record speaks for itself. He abolished the imposition practiced upon the servant girl and the unprotected women. He has been the originator and drafter of more commendable measures favorable to the improvement of the people's condition than any representative in Congress. With a united party, in spite of all the race and religious prejudice existing in his district against him, he can be elected by a good majority.

WM. F. ROACH.

Pullman's Passengers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I don't believe in strikes, but at the same time I do believe in the public striking against paying the nabobs on Pullman cars—the porters—25 cents for a poor shine and a poor brush off. Pullman should pay his porters—God knows, anyone traveling on his cars have to pay enough, more by 50 per cent than is charged by any hotel in the United States. Why, then should they pay the porter 25 cents when you can get better service anywhere for 10 cents. Drown old King Pullman and get a new order of things.

COMMERCIAL TRAVELER.

Down on the Umpire.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

One of the local fans says that they consider it a blessing for all teams concerned in the National League, especially St. Louis and Cincinnati, that O'Rourke has resigned from the list of league umpires. They also state that if Mr. O'Rourke intends to practice law that they would advise him to make a few more correct decisions in his bar practice than he did on the base ball diamond, or they are very much afraid that he will be forced to resign from that position also.

A LADY.

A CHILD'S SUICIDE.

A Little West Virginia Girl Hangs Herself for Being Kept Home.

BRADSHAW, W. Va., July 18.—Nellie Kenne, a 9-year-old child, hung herself because she had been kept home from school by her mother to care for two children. She was dead when found.

YOUNG BAPTISTS.

Toronto Overflowing With Delegates to the Union Convention.

TORONTO, Ont., July 18.—The streets leading from the Union Depot were filled to-day with an almost continuous procession of strangers, whose white badges denoted that they were delegates to the International Convention of the Baptist Young People's Union of America.

The convention will be called to order in Massey Music Hall at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning. The delegates on the ground will participate in religious meetings to-night.

HIGH INSURANCE.

Put on a Brooklyn Car-House by the New York Association.

NEW YORK, July 18.—An extraordinarily high rate of insurance has been fixed by the New York Tariff Insurance Association upon the new car-house of the Brooklyn City Railroad Co. at Third avenue and Fifty-eighth street. The structure is the largest of its kind in the country and covers a block 700 by 200 feet. Cars are stored on three floors and it contains several miles of tracks. The rate fixed for insurance on the building is 6 per cent and on the contents 5.55 per cent.

SYLVESTER GAMBLE'S DEATH.

A St. Louis Boy Killed on a Dredgeboat at Louisiana.

Clarence Sylvester Gamble of St. Louis, who was killed Monday while working on the dredgeboat Anchor at Plaquemine, La., on Bayou Plaquemine, by having his head crushed between a swinging timber and a joist, resided with his parents at 4379 St. Louis avenue. Sylvester Gamble, as he was generally called be his associates, was 20 years of age, and worked for a time as a newspaper messenger boy at the Four Courts. His body will be sent here for interment.

ASTRONOMICAL PHOTOGRAPHY.

Invention of a New Instrument Termed the Sextuple Telescope.

CLEVELAND, O., July 18.—A new astronomical instrument, termed a sextuple photographic telescope, has just been completed by Wagner & Swazey of this city and is about to be shipped to New Haven, Conn. It will be placed in one of the Yale observatories, and though intended for general astronomical photography, will begin its picture-taking with the appearance of the August meteoric displays. In certain respects it stands unique among photographic telescopes and may revolutionize the present system. It has six cameras instead of one, and altogether they cover a field in the sky equal to that which would be occupied by 2,400 full moons. By its use on the meteors the astronomers of Yale expect to develope new facts relating to their height. They will place single telescopes at distances of two miles from the sextuple instrument and by means of electrical connections will photograph simultaneously. The plates will then be compared and calculations will be made with a view to establishing the height of meteors.

Cruise of the Minneapolis.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 18.—The cruiser Minneapolis has reached her dock at Cramps' ship-yard. She came up the river last night, but owing to shoal water and the heavy fog which rendered navigation in the Delaware dangerous, she dropped anchor. When she weighed anchor this morning and started for her dock she received the greatest ovation ever given a boat on the Delaware. Craft of all description saluted the big cruiser, and the screeching of her siren and big whistle in response to the salutes continued with scarcely an intermission of ten seconds until she was made fast to her dock.

Sailors Arrested for Robbery.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., July 18.—Two sailors belonging to the schooner Achilles were arrested here by a Deputy United States Marshal from Alaska, charged with robbing Capt. Bartles of $800 while the latter was in jail at Sitka for attempting to break into the Government prison to release a Russian woman. Capt. Bartles sent the men on board the schooner to Sitka to get the money to be deposited as bail. They secured the money, stole a boat and escaped down the coast. The officers came down and awaited their arrival. The boat and a portion of the money was recovered.

Left an Infant.

A middle aged woman called at the residence of Mrs. Joseph Backhaus, 4346 Prairie avenue and asked Mrs. Backhaus to keep a 3-weeks-old female child which the woman had, for a short time while she attended to some business in the neighborhood. Mrs. Backhaus took the child and the woman failed to return. The infant was sent to St. Ann's Asylum.

Sent to a Reform School.

Lulu Wiegman of 1019 Call street, the 15-year-old incorrigible girl who was fined $100 by Judge Paxson a day or two ago, was sent to the reform school at Chillicothe, Mo., this morning by City Marshal [illegible].

DRAGGED BY JAPANESE.

Outrageous Treatment of the British Consul in Corea.

LONDON, July 18.—A dispatch to the Times from Shanghai gives additional details regarding the news received from Seoul, the capital of Corea, that Japanese soldiers recently assaulted the British Consul at that place and his wife, which resulted in the landing of thirty British blue jackets to guard the British Legation. The Consul was dragged fifty yards and was beaten by the Japanese soldiers, who used their fists repeatedly. The chair of the Consul's wife was pushed into a ditch.

The British Consul drew up a formal complaint and sent it to the Japanese Minister, but the latter only sent a curt reply and made no apology.

Danish Satisfaction.

COPENHAGEN, July 18.—The Danish Government has obtained satisfaction for the expulsion from Schleswig, Germany, of the eight Danish players belonging to the Royal Theater of Copenhagen.

These players were arrested at Hadersleben, Schleswig, early in June, under instructions from the Burgomeister of that place, who claimed that there was a prohibition against the use of the Danish language in Schleswig. The actors were then ordered to leave and went to Ribe, in Denmark, where they received an ovation when the facts of their expulsion became known.

The Evicted Tenants Bill.

LONDON, July 18.—Sir William Vernon Harcourt, in the House of Commons to-day, said that the remainder of this session of Parliament would be principally devoted to considering the evicted tenants bill, the bill providing for an equalization of London rates, the local government for Scotland bill, the miners' eight hours' bill, the Welsh church bill and the local veto bill. All other measures, he said, would go over until next session.

The German Imperial Bank.

BERLIN, July 18.—The weekly statement of the Imperial Bank of Germany shows the following changes as compared with the previous account: Cash in hand, increased 14,540,000 marks; treasury notes, increased 680,000 marks; other securities, decreased 14,080,000 marks; notes in circulation, decreased 43,180,000 marks.

KNOCKING IN THE COFFIN.

How a Nephew of Washington Irving Escaped Premature Burial.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 18.—Washington E. Irving, a nephew of the famous author, was supposed to have died at Escondido and his funeral was held. At the close of the service, after friends had passed the casket, a knocking was heard from within, and the lid having been hastily removed Irving got up in a dazed condition, but soon regained his senses fully and was taken home.

BONDVILLE ABLAZE.

An Illinois Village With No Means of Extinguishing Fire.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., July 18.—Last night the Champaign fire company went by special train to Bondville, a village seven miles west of here, a report being sent that the whole town was on fire. The citizens of that place having no means of extinguishing the flames were helpless and the whole south side of the little village was soon in a complete mass of flames. The loss is estimated to be $9,000, insurance about $4,000.

The heaviest losers are S. C. Milliken, grocer; Talbott Bros., Agriculturists; Carl & Tyler, grocers, and Barch Bros., blacksmiths. By strenuous efforts of the citizens 10,000 bushels of grain were saved.

FROM THE NOTE BOOKS.

Interesting Incidental Sketches of the Daily Work of Newsgathering.

DON'T LIKE HIS BOW.—The ladies who attend the games at Sportsman's Park have a high appreciation of Capt. Miller as a player, but his appearance does not seem to be to their liking. The bow in his underpinning is very pronounced and is a theme for many quiet jests from the fair sex. One pretty miss recently called the Browns' Captain the "ugly duckling."

THE ONLY WAY TO BEAT BERRY.—One of the celebrated characters on the Western racing circuit is the veteran turfman Capt. R. R. Rice, or "Bob" Rice as he is known. The Captain comes from a good old Southern family, and the Rice estate, a 2,000-acred cotton plantation, is one of the features of Lincoln County, Ark. Although Lincoln County is a Republican stronghold and the Captain a Democrat of the Confederate Brigadier order, he was Sheriff of that borough for twelve years previous to last October. The last time he was up for re-election his own party nominated him unanimously and the Republicans indorsed him. The Captain's friends afterwards wanted to run him for Congress, but he had made up his mind to retire from politics, when his term as Sheriff expired. Speaking of the Arkansas senatorial fight between the one-legged Berry and Gov. Fishback, Capt. Rice says the only way Berry can be beat is to oppose him with an ex-Confederate, who has no legs at all.

PAUPER PHILOSOPHY—McLean's clock had just struck 2. Having been relieved from late watch I was standing at the corner of Fourth and Chestnut streets waiting for a red car. On the Court-house lawn, on the steps and on the coping were stretched from seventy-five to a hundred ragged men wrapped in slumber. Many were lying on their backs, with their faces upturned to the stars, and the pale light which the moon shed upon their faces made them look like so many unburied corpses. It was a weird scene. I had stood in pitying contemplation for several minutes when an old man of the class of those houseless humans came along.

"It's a fine night—or morning, I guess, now—ain't it?" he said.

I acquiesced.

"It's pretty warm still, though."

"Yes."

"Well, on a night like this how much better it is for a man to sleep out here on the grass than to get into a bed some place where the bugs would bother the life out of him."

His philosophy amused me and in order that he might not be without all of the comforts of home I gave him a dime to buy a "nightcap."

SNAP SHOTS AT HOME AFFAIRS.

Ben O. Clark's estate showed hundreds of thousands of dollars in mining stocks now not worth a cent. A St. Louis editor is said to have a collection already rivaling this—and he is alive and said to be still collecting.

Jenks is a candid fellow. He had called to get her statement in a divorce case just filed.

Jenks: "Madam, will you give me your statement of the case?"

Mrs. S.: "No. I will not discuss my domestic affairs."

Jenks: "Why not? Everybody else is."

Clouded skies but little rain has been the meteorological order of the past two days in this vicinity.

After the strike at Sportsman's Park Von der Ahe said he would sooner see fewer walk outs and more home runs.

Ungar told Price, but who told Ungar what was going on in the Grand-jury room?

A stranger who does not give his name writes to attack the "hold over" at the Four Courts. He says the room is cramped, the portions of food scanty and no supply plentiful except that of roaches. This picture is an interior view.

She Married Him.

From the Chicago Times.

"I had a perfect lover once," she sighed;
"Yes, just before I married you,
Who listened when I spoke, and tried
To answer all my questions, too.

"So courteous and so kind—so good!
He'd never think a man could be
As thoughtless and, indeed, so rude
As you too often are to me.

"The jewel of my love once won,
He used to swear, could ne'er grow dim;

Verbal Pitfalls.

Executed.—Two well-dressed women were examining a statue of Andromeda, labeled "Executed in Terra-cotta." Said one, "Where is Terra-cotta?" The other replied, "I am sure I don't know, but I pity the poor girl, wherever it was."

Transpire.—"John Randolph of Virginia had a very tender ear for good English, and when, one day, a member of Congress used the word transpire repeatedly, and always in the sense of occurring or taking place, he bore it for a time, but finally lost all patience. 'May I interrupt the gentleman a moment?' he said. 'Certainly,' said the Speaker. 'Well,'' said Randolph, 'if you use the word transpire once more, I shall expire.'"

Ugly (for ill-tempered).—"H. Reeves states that a British traveler, walking one day in the suburbs of Boston, saw a woman on a doorstep whipping a screaming child. 'Good woman,' said he, 'why do you whip the boy so severely?' She answered, 'Because he is so ugly.' The Englishman walked on, and put down in his journal: 'Mem. American mothers are so cruel as to whip their children because they are not handsome.'"

Woman.—"John Brown, having been sent the other day at Balmoral by the Queen in quest of the lady in waiting, who happened to be the Duchess of Atholle, suddenly stumbled against her. B. has insulted me; he has had the impertinence to call me a woman.' To which the Queen replied, with cutting severity: 'And pray, what are you?'"

SHAKSPEARE.

The Sun Slowly Burning Up.

Sir Robert Ball, the astronomer royal of Ireland, says that there is a distinct limit to man's existence upon this planet, and that the length of that period will be controlled by the final exhaustion of the sun. It seems from his figures that the "great orb of day" has already dissipated at least four-fifths of the energy with which he was originally endowed, and that without being reinvigorated by some extraordinary process he cannot hold out more than 10,000,000 years longer, and possibly not more than 4,000,000 years. The series of figures from which he deduces this startling result may also be juggled around in such a manner as to show the age of our great luminary, which the professor has set down at 18,000,000 years.

PLATES CAPTURED

From Which the Mississippi State Warrants Were Printed.

THEY WERE SENT HERE FROM CHICAGO AND SURRENDERED.

The St. Louis Bank Note Co. Had Sublet the Contract—The Plates Were Canceled in Chicago—Secret Service Operative Murphy Had Instructions to Seize Them.

The plates from which the State warrants issued by Mississippi were printed are in the hands of John E. Murphy, United States Secret Service operative in charge of the St. Louis District of the Treasury Department. Mr. Murphy got them yesterday afternoon from E. A. Smith, Secretary of the St. Louis Bank Note Co., 38 Laclede Building. Last Friday Mr. Murphy received from Chief Hazen of the Secret Service Bureau of the Treasury Department one of the $20 Mississippi warrants, which the Government officials declare were issued in violation of the Federal statutes. Mr. Murphy was instructed to seize the plates and whatever printed matter there was in the hands of the St. Louis Bank Note Co., whose firm name was on the bill. Mr. Murphy visited the St. Louis Bank Note Co., and learned that the plates were in the hands of the Western Bank Note Co. of Chicago, to whom the St. Louis company had sublet the contract. Yesterday Mr. Murphy was notified by the Washington authorities that the plates had been sent to this city. The St. Louis Bank Note Co. declared that they had not received them, but about noon Mr. Murphy insisted on their surrender.

CONSULTED COUNSEL.

The officers asked time to consult counsel and later in the afternoon agreed to give up the plates. Mr. Murphy holds them subject to orders from Washington. From these plates were printed the $200,000 of State warrants of the denominations of $5, $10 and $20. The plates were defaced by the Western company of Chicago as soon as the contract was completed. Mr. Murphy said to-day that the warrant which he received from Washington last week would easily be mistaken for a currency note. It had the peculiar green color which is characteristic of currency notes; it had the familiar scroll work, and the denomination was indicated by large figures. The seizure was made under sec. 5430 of the revised statutes of the United States. The Government may force Mississippi to surrender the warrants.

Marshal Fox Locates the Woman for Whom He Has Been Hunting.

At that time Delia was living at 517 North Channing avenue, but she removed to the rear of 3316 Laclede avenue, at which address she was found last night. Delia declares that she made no disturbance at the Channing avenue address. She simply shouted "Hurrah for Jeff Davis," she said, "and maybe this disturbed them," she concluded. The complainants, however, are ready to testify that Delia threw water on them and otherwise demeaned herself in a manner calculated to provoke a breach of the peace.

REAL ESTATE DEALS.

Quick Returns on an Investment in Chestnut Street Property.

Business in real estate circles is on the mend. The number of large trades and sales is increasing instead of falling off and moneyed men are buying up what ever they can get hold of cheap in the down-town business portion of the city. A piece of vacant property having a frontage of 52½ feet on the south side of Chestnut street, between Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets, was sold by the Nelson & Mersman agency this morning for $23,400 or a little over $444 a front foot.

Alfred B. Carpenter, a contractor and builder, was the purchaser. He intends to improve it with two buff-colored business structures three stories high, with stores on the first floors and apartments above. The property is within a stone's throw of the new Union Depot.

The enhancement of the value of this piece of property during the dull times that have prevailed during the past year is a fair example of the solidity of St. Louis real estate values, and in a measure explains why St. Louis business men and capitalists put their money in St. Louis real estate. Eight months ago Messrs. Nelson & Mersman bought the property for $350 a foot, or $18,287.50, and by selling it at $23,400 they make a profit of $5,112.50, or about $94 a foot, nearly 30 per cent in eight months.

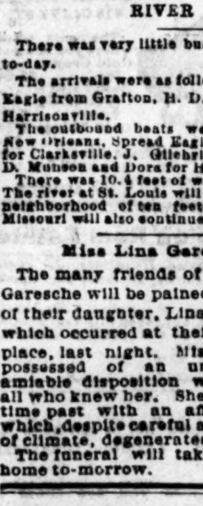
GOOD SPIRITS



follow good health while low spirits, melancholia, impaired memory, morose, or irritable temper, fear of impending calamity and a thousand and one derangements of body and mind, result from pernicious, solitary practices, often indulged in by the young, through ignorance of their ruinous consequences. Nervous debility, and loss of manly power, not infrequently result from such unnatural habits.

To reach, reclaim and restore such unfortunates to health and happiness, is the aim of an association of medical gentlemen, who have prepared a treatise, written in plain but chaste language and treating of the nature, symptoms and curability, by home treatment, of such diseases.

A copy of this useful book will, on receipt of this notice, with 10 cents in stamps, for postage, be mailed securely sealed in a plain envelope. Address, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

I am sixty-six years old. In August, 1883, was troubled with the peculiar skin disease to which people of my age are subject, known among medical men as eczema. Its first appearance was near the ankles. It rapidly extended over the lower extremities until my legs were nearly one raw sore; from legs the trouble extended across the hips, shoulders and the entire length of the arms, the legs and arms greatly swollen with an itching, burning pain, without cessation. Although the best medical advice attainable was employed, no less than five physicians of the place being consulted and the prescriptions being the result of their combined wisdom, the disease, though apparently checked, would recur in a few days as bad as ever; during its progress my weight fell away about twenty-five pounds. As an experiment I began the use of CUTICURA, following the simple and plain instructions given with the REMEDIES, and in four weeks found myself well, with skin soft and natural in color, the itching and pain entirely relieved.

CUTICURA WORKS WONDERS

CUTICURA REMEDIES speedily cure every humor and disease of the skin, scalp, and blood, with loss of hair, whether itching, burning, scaly, pimply, and blotchy, whether simple, scrofulous, hereditary, or contagious, when physicians fail.

I was operated on two years ago for an abscess, which left a running sore, which five doctors said could only be helped by another operation. I almost gave up in despair. $3.50 worth of the CUTICURA REMEDIES cured me, and I am now well and strong. MRS. ANNIE KULEN, 2101 Lawrence St., Denver, Col.

TOWN MOUSE AND COUNTRY MOUSE.

Sophia's Purpose to Bring Jack Around Frustrated.

THE END OF A COUNTRY FLIRTATION.

SOPHIA TEMPLE, the Vicar's Daughter.
DOROTHY VAUX, a London Friend.

SCENE: A Country Parsonage.

Dorothy (reading telegram)—"Will be with you at 5 o'clock.—Sophia." What possessed Sophia to invite herself here, of all places in the world? I know she positively detests the country and all its ways. And just now, too! Oh, it's too tiresome! She'll just spoil everything. If only she'd kept away for even another week—. Here she is, over-dressed, as usual! Dear Sophia, I am so glad to see you.

Sophia (languidly)—How do, dear (throws herself into an easy chair). Heavens! What a journey! What on earth induced your father to settle down in such an outlandish hole?

Dorothy—We don't think it an "outlandish hole," and father was only too glad to get the living.

Sophia—Couldn't he get another?

Dorothy—Why should he? We like it.

Sophia—Well, tastes differ. I should die.

Dorothy—Won't you come near the fire? You must be cold. It's a pretty drive, isn't it?

Sophia—I thought it never would end! And as for being cold—I'm absolutely frozen. Is it always like this in May here?

Dorothy—We consider to-day unusually warm.

Sophia—Oh, ah! (Condescendingly.) Nice little room this. Yours, I suppose.

Dorothy—This is the drawing-room.

Sophia—Oh. (Goes to the window.) Good gracious! There's not a house to be seen—nothing but fields.

Dorothy—It's generally like that in the country.

Sophia—Not a bad garden—but what is that funny old man doing there?

Dorothy—Where—oh, that's father, digging up the potatoes for dinner.

Sophia—How very droll! A man of good family, too!

Dorothy (aside)—Shall I say he does it for the sake of exercise? No. But I shall never get on with a town-bred idiot like this, I know. Oh! here's tea; how lucky!

Sophia (aside)—What can one have in common with a girl whose father digs up his own potatoes? Tea! What a relief! (Aloud) What delicious griddle-cakes!

Dorothy—Yes; cook got the recipe out of "Silvia's Letter." Such a good recipe!

Sophia—Oh, did she? I never care where cakes come from—I only eat them. Heavens! what is that noise? Have you any wild beasts in the house?

Dorothy (laughing)—Only the babies—four of them. You'll see them—they can come down after tea.

Sophia—No, thanks. I detest babies; I always want to throw them out of the window.

Dorothy (aside)—Inhuman creature. I hope she'll never have any to ill treat.

Sophia (aside)—She's a kind of upper-nurse, I suppose, in this wretched household. How poor they must be! (Aloud) What do you do with yourself all day? Is there anything to do here?

Dorothy—Oh, any amount of things. I ride—

Sophia—Not alone, surely?

Dorothy—No. (Aside) Rather not! Take walks—

Sophia—In these muddy lanes——?

Dorothy—Oh, I'm used to them. I practice the organ, play with the children, visit father's old women——

Sophia—How very exciting! Go on, dear.

Dorothy—Arrange the flowers in the church, write out father's sermons, feed the chickens——

Sophia—Heavens! What a life! (Curiously) And—a—what neighbors have you?

Dorothy—Very few; some neighboring clergymen and their wives.

Sophia (aside)—She's very secretive. I must ask, after all. (Aloud) Is not Merrington Court near here?

Dorothy—Quite near; only six miles off.

Sophia (disappointed)—Oh, as far as that? I suppose you don't see much of them?

Dorothy—Oh, yes; we get a glimpse of them now and then. (Aside) Breakfast, dinner, tea, as a rule!

Sophia—Ah, I suppose you see them in Church? (Carlessly) We were always coming across them this season.

Dorothy (interestedly)—Really?

Sophia (simpering)—Yes; Jack Merrington and I had quite a little flirtation. Nice boy, isn't he?

Dorothy (aside)—Nice boy, indeed! How condescending! (Aloud) Did you flirt?

Sophia (consciously)—Well, I suppose I did; but on his side I fancy it was rather serious, and, between ourselves, old Sir Ralph and Lady Merrington went out of their way to be civil to me. Everybody thought it was—going to be.

Dorothy—Indeed? (Aside) Now I see why Sophia has honored this poor house with her company. Well, I sincerely hope and trust she has had the trouble all for nothing.

Sophia—What does he do with himself in these wilds all day? He must be bored to death.

Dorothy—Who? Sir Ralph? He's an invalid.

Sophia (aside)—Little wretch; she knows quite well whom I mean. (Aloud) No; the son.

Dorothy—The son—oh, he's not bored. When he's not shooting—he's flirting, like everybody else.

Sophia—Flirting here! But there's nobody to flirt with!

Dorothy—Oh—isn't there? A very nice girl as he thinks, lives close by.

Sophia—Some stupid, vapid country girl, with no ideas in life but hunting outdoors and knitting in. I can just picture her. She has red hands—wears glasses and a bang—has large feet and wears larger boots—and the inevitable short skirt and baggy blouse.

Dorothy—Go on; you have got funny ideas about us.

Sophia—However, I'll soon stop that little affair now I've come down.

Dorothy—You'll find it difficult—he's always with her.

Sophia—He won't be now that I am here.

Dorothy (aside)—I shall say something rude in a minute.

(A servant brings in a note and hands it to Dorothy).

Dorothy (aside)—What is it? (Opens and reads hurriedly) Hurrah! I'm the happiest girl in the world. "Wants an answer immediately—would have had it this morning if father had not called me just when"— Yes, yes, you shall have one (writes hurriedly).

Sophia (aside)—How pretty and excited she looks! What is making her color so? (Aloud) You seem interested in your note. Be quick and finish it and then tell me something more about this girl. Do you really know the girl?

Dorothy—Rather.

Sophia—Well, so long as they are not engaged—and that's not likely—I'll soon bring him around again.

Dorothy—But how if they are engaged?

Sophia—Nonsense. They can't be. I am sure there isn't a girl here Jack Merrington would condescend to look at.

Dorothy—There's one he condescends to be engaged to, at any rate.

Sophia—I don't believe it. Is there something about it in that note?

Dorothy—Yes, there is. (Aside). Doesn't she see now, or must I tell her?

Sophia—Well, if he chooses to throw himself away, it's no affair of mine. Pity, though, you didn't try to secure him.

Dorothy (indignantly)—I can assure you I didn't try.

Sophia—What! You the girl—Jack and [illegible]

BY THE PEOPLE

Anti-Filleyites Want City Central Committeemen Elected.

Committeeman Walkenhorst Making the Fight This Afternoon.

HE OPPOSES ELECTION BY DELEGATES TO THE STATE CONVENTION.

A Movement to Break Filley's Grip on the Next Republican City Central Committee—Opposed by Chairman Kalbfell and Committeeman Rohlfing—A Lively Fight Expected—Walkenhorst Explains His Position.

At the meeting of the Republican City Central Committee, held behind closed doors at Sixth and Walnut streets this afternoon, the anti-Filleyites are making a bitter fight to take the election of the next committee out of the hands of delegates to the State Republican Convention.

The attempt being made is to revert to the system in vogue before the split in the committee preceding the present, causing secession and a double committee, made it necessary to secure harmony by having delegates to a State Covention elect a City Central Committee.

The old system provided for the election of delegates from the various wards by the direct vote of the people. It is this system for which the anti-Filleyites are fighting at this afternoon's meeting.

Chairman Theodore Kalbfell, the leader of the Filley forces in the committee, under the direction of Committeeman Rohlfing, Filley's lieutenant, is strongly opposed to a change from the system now in vogue. This is to be expected, as the anti-Filleyites count on an election of the committee by the people as a sure means of downing Filley in the committee.

Committeeman Tom Martin, with whom Chairman Kalbfell was in consultation this morning, professes not to care which system obtains, but volunteers the opinion that the election of Central Committeemen by delegates to the State Convention is preferable, owing to the fact that such committeemen are then required to put up $50 each, which, says Mr. Martin, will tend to "keep out beats."

Committeeman J. H. Walkenhorst is believed to be the leader of the movement to revert to the old system of election, and he was seen this morning by a POST-DISPATCH reporter and discussed the matter very fully.

"The beauty of having the central committee members elected by a direct vote of the people," says Mr. Walkenhorst, "is that in this way the next committee will be organized on its merits; the people will know whom they are voting for. As it is now, a man who is distasteful to the people does not need to go before them at all; all that is necessary to do is to have the right man elected a delegate to the State convention and the election of the central committee man will follow. There are some members of the committee now, who would not have a ghost of a show in an election, if they had to be voted for by the people, but they can get in under the system which elected the present committee. I am not surprised that men like Rohlfing and others are opposed to a change from the present system. They know they would not be chosen to the committee in a direct election, and they want to keep things as they are now; that is, to leave the election of the City Central Committee in the hands of the State Convention. I shall certainly do all in my power to have a change made to the old system, and I think I can promise that there will be a very lively fight at this afternoon's meeting."

The main purpose for which the meeting to-day was called was stated as being the settlement of the date for holding the primaries for the election of delegates to the State convention next month. The date selected will be between the 7th and 12th of August. But the most significant action taken at to-day's meeting will be that establishing the system by which the next Central Committee will be elected. Should the movement to revert to the old system be successful, once more making the election of committeemen by direct vote of the people, it is claimed that there will be a radical reorganization of the committee as the result of the coming election, a change of chairmen and practically the breaking of Filley's grip on the committee.

There is some talk to the effect that John H. Pohlman may be the next chairman of the City Central Committee, but Committeemen Chartrand, Walkenhorst, Martin, Hagenman, Kalbfell and others said to-day that there had been no discussion of this point, as there was no telling how the committee would stand after the election, and the present committee is now within a month of its dissolution.

CHARGED WITH GRAND LARCENY.

Jas. R. Grant Arrested on Complaint of His Former Employer.

James R. Grant, a former employe of Julius Claude, the ticket broker at 1105 Poplar street, was arrested about noon to-day by Detective John Howard, an employe of Mr. Claude, who alleges that Grant stole $97 from his safe. The prisoner was found in a saloon opposite the Four Courts. He carried the key to the safe in Mr. Claude's office. A warrant charging him with grand larceny was obtained against the prisoner.

THE EARTH SHOOK.

St. Louisans Disturbed by a Seismic Disturbance.

THE SHOCK FELT IN ALL PARTS OF THE CITY AND SUBURBS.

Signal Service Observer Fred Myers Says His Bed Moved Several Inches—A Number of People Make Inquiries of the Signal Service—Reports From Kirkwood.

Early risers say St. Louis was shaken by an earthquake this morning. The shock came a few minutes before 7 o'clock, and according to the testimony of many persons it was distinctly felt in every section of the city. It was accompanied by a rattling of windows and crockery and a general commotion among pictures and furniture.

The Government Weather Bureau has no official record of the disturbance for the reason that it is not equipped with a seismometer, but Observer Fred Myers, who has lived in South America and has been shaken by earthquakes until his teeth fell out, says he felt the shock while at his home on Cote Brilliante avenue. He was in bed and was wakened by the noisy rattling of the window frames. The bed moved several inches and a three-legged chair tumbled over. He remarked to his wife that St. Louis was having an earthquake and then rolled over and went to sleep. Later in the day he was called to the telephone a score of times to answer questions about the shock.

NO SEISMOMETER.

St. Louis has no instrument for recording seismic disturbances. There was a seismometer at the Washington University once, but every time a heavy wagon rolled by or the janitor shook the furnace the instrument recorded an earthquake, so the faculty got disgusted and shipped it back to the factory. It is one of the most sensitive of instruments, the mechanism being so delicate as to render it valueless in large cities or any place else where there are frequent vibrations from natural causes.

AT KIRKWOOD.

The shock was also felt in the suburbs, and particularly at Kirkwood. Mr. T. L. Kelton of the general passenger department of the Missouri Pacific, says that just as his family sat down to breakfast at 6:30 o'clock, the house was so violently shaken that pictures rattled on the walls, chairs rocked and dishes hopped about on the table. His domestic, who was in the kitchen at the time, was made "sea sick." Mr. Abrahams and other neighbors of Mr. Kelton, also felt the disturbance.

EARTHQUAKE AT MEMPHIS.

Three Distinct Shocks Felt, With Vibrations From North to South.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 18.—Three distinct earthquake shocks were felt here at 6:30 o'clock this morning. The vibration was from north to south.

The shocks lasted about four seconds. They were felt throughout the surrounding Territory in West Tennessee. Chandeliers swayed and dishes on shelves rattled, but no damage was done.

COACHES DERAILED.

A Misplaced Switch Plays Havoc With a Creve Cœur Lake Train.

The 1:30 p. m. Creve Cœur passenger train on the Missouri Pacific was derailed yesterday afternoon at Coleman. Two coaches were partly demolished, but none of the passengers was hurt. Supt. Clark made a thorough investigation and is satisfied that there is nothing in a rumor that strikers caused the mishap. Strikers had nothing to do with it. The wreck was caused by a misplaced switch.

On the 300th Ballot.

MONMOUTH, Ill., July 18.—Truman Plantz of Hancock County was nominated for Congress by the Democratic convention of the Fifteenth District on the 300th ballot to-day.

Her Mind Unsound.

Sophia Hubill, a married woman, was taken from her home, 1823 Menard street, this morning and sent to the City Hospital. She is mentally unbalanced.

NEW YORK—There was believed to be liquidation in D. & C. F., Chicago Gas and Sugar, with some hammering in the railroad stocks. It was considered certain that unfavorable news on Sugar started the selling and uncovered stop orders. Interests which have been bulling Sugar appeared to look for lower prices. Some surprise was expressed that D. & C. F. did not decline more in view of the large transactions, while Gas had fully as much strength as was expected in view of the size of the vote by which the new ordinance was passed. It was called a hard market to read and sentiment last night was rather divided. The loan crowd showed more demand for stocks. Texas Pacific earnings for the second week of July show a decrease of $5,000.

NEW YORK—The probable veto of the Chicago Universal Gas Co. ordinance has a tendency to give Chicago Gas a firmer tone. London is now selling Union Pacific and Boston buying it.

The market at the opening finds London as a seller. Their operations are only in St. Paul at present, but may spread to others. Wormser is selling it and doing about all the business.

Wall Street.

NEW YORK, July 18.—Very little business has been done on the Stock Exchange up to 10:15 o'clock, except in Sugar and Chicago Gas, and even in these shares the fluctuations have been steady. Sugar opened unchanged, declined ¼, rallied ⅜, reacted ⅛, and recovered ⅛. Chicago Gas has advanced ⅛. The general list opened a shade lower, Union Pacific showing a loss of ⅛. Pacific Mail has sold up 1 per cent.

11 a. m.—Speculation has continued dull, changes in the general share list being unimportant. Sugar has advanced ⅜c on the news from Washington. Consolidated Gas has declined ⅜. Distilling, with fair buying, has recovered ⅛. Chicago Gas is a shade firmer on reports that Mayor Hopkins is likely to veto the new gas company's franchise.

Dullness has been the prevailing characteristic of the past hour and the general list has fluctuated within narrow limits. Sugar has eased off ⅛, Distilling ⅛ and Manhattan ½ per cent, the other shares traded in being unchanged or moving within a margin of ⅛ or ¼. Money on call easy at 1 per cent. A BAD BREAK.

September Wheat Makes Another Low Price Record.

DRY, HOT WEATHER ADVANCES AND HOLDS THE CORN MARKET FIRM.

Large Flour Sales for Export—The News Generally Bearish on Wheat—Items of Interest to the Trade.

A promise of cooler weather in the Northwest was the only crumb of comfort for those who wish for a good spring wheat crop. The rain that has fallen in that section has been too light and scattered to do any good. Latest reports indicate the crop has deteriorated from even its low condition upon which the July Government estimate was based. It has been conceded that South Dakota's crop will be away below an average, and that portions of Southern Minnesota will have a very poor outturn. To learn, however, from the North Dakota crop bulletin that wheat in central and southern portions of that State was almost destroyed by drought, aided by the Russian thistle and the gopher, is a surprise. It looks very much as though the Northwest crop of spring wheat will be unusually small this year.

"Yes, we are selling flour right along to Europe," remarked one St. Louis miller, "and we are getting our own price for all we sell." Most St. Louis millers continue to claim that prices are too high on flour in this market to do business abroad, but the amount of sales lately reported for export would show that some millers in this section are getting their work in. It is learned that within the past few days between 30,000 and 40,000 sacks flour have been sold by city millers and by mills located at points near this city. A mill at Carlisle, Ill., is said to have made heavy sales abroad lately. A local freight agent says he knows of 150 cars flour that have been booked for export.

The official estimate of the Indian wheat crop reduced to bushels makes the outturn 258,459,000 bu, against 268,500,000 bu last year and 206,640,000 bu two years ago. The exports last year were 22,718,000 bu, and the previous year 27,950,000 bu, and, at the rate since the season opened, will not be over 18,000,000 bu this season.

The Wiener Lloyd of Vienna says that the Austro-Hungarian wheat crop will be a full average. This is the most sanguine estimate yet made.

Abel Rey cables from Paris to John T. Milliken: "Weather favorable. Harvest is being secured in good condition. New crop wheat expected to be large. Market closed at decline of 1 per cent."

The price of cheese will be advanced in this market next Monday, as Wisconsin factories have put prices up.

Private reports from the corn crop of Iowa and Nebraska are not so bad as the Government and State bulletins. About the worst complaint by mail and wire is that rain is badly needed and that the crop will suffer if the drought continues much longer.

The St. Louis wheat market is so much lower than competing points that, were it not for the wheat already sold to arrive and the lower river crop, receipts would be very small here. Yesterday Chicago was bidding for wheat all over Missouri on a basis of 53½c for No 2 red in St. Louis, and Kansas City was buying wheat this side of Sedalia. This market should wake up.

ON 'CHANGE.

Grain.

Wheat—A further decline, principally because Chicago, which was nearly 5c higher than St. Louis, was weak and declining. There was only small reactions on the way down and the lowest price was 1c below yesterday's close. The close was fair at ¼@½c above the bottom. Chicago was heavy and bearing downward in price this morning, sending out nothing but bearish news, the most prominent the promise of heavy receipts, as receivers were doing most the selling. Arrivals were large here and over a third more than one year ago, the cables were dull and weak and nothing bullish was heard. The result was weakness and declines in all domestic markets. Clearances were only 37,000 pkgs flour and 100,000 bu from four ports, but New York announced good export buying, this checking the downward tendency. Most of the late cables reported declines, and domestic markets turned weak again, but the close showed some strength.

FUTURES—July sold from 51⅝c at opening, down to 51⅛c and 51⅛@⅛c on call, then went to 51⅛c, which was bid at close. Aug sold firm 51⅛c at opening down to 50⅞c, but offered down to 50⅞c and that bid at close. Sept opened at 52⅛c, sold down to 51⅞@⅞c, back to 52c, off to 51⅞c, and up to 51⅞@⅞c, closing with latter bid. Dec sold at 55⅛c to 55⅛c, and at close offered at 55⅛c.

SPOT GRADES—Lower again and no change in the character of the demand. Most offerings consisted of No 2 red, which was taken by accumulative buyers at 51c for regular. No 3 red offered in United at 47⅝c, bid 47⅛c and for F 47⅞c bid. No 4 winter sold in F at 45⅛c, offered in United at 45⅛c, bid 45⅛c. No 2 hard winter in United 48c bid.

Sales: No 2 red—96 cars, 29,900 bu and 1,950 sacks regular at 51c. No 3 red—7 cars in U at 47⅛c, 1 in C at 47⅛c. No 4 winter—2 cars in F at 45⅜c.

SAMPLES—Received, 19,592 sks and 152 cars. The market was tame at about 1c decline on all grades. Sales: New red winter—41 sks rejected at 44c, 538 No 4 at 47c, 48 No 3 at 50c, 3,498 No 2 at 51c. In warehouse—2,000 bu choice at 51c. On this side track—1 car ungraded at 47c. On East track—1 cars No. 3 at 48⅛c, 2 cars No. 2 to arrive at 51c, 1 car No. 2 at 51⅛c. In special bin—1 car rejected at 45c. Old red winter—1 car No 3 in special bin at 48⅛c.

Corn—The Government and Iowa crop bulletins stating that the corn was suffering from drouth and hot weather and the fact that the weather continued so, gave the market another upturn. Receipts were good and the cash market no better, which held July down, but the other options were strong. The market did not hold its strength and at close July was ⅛c below yesterday, but Sept ⅛c and May ⅛c better.

FUTURES—July sold at 40⅛c and later offered at 40⅛c. Aug sold at 40⅛c and at close offered at 40⅛c. Sept opened at 40⅛c and advanced to 40⅝c, but at close offered at 40⅜c. May sold at 35⅛c, to 36c, closing with 35⅞c bid.

SPOT GRADES—Firm, and white corn higher, the few cars offering selling readily. No 2 was salable regular at 40⅛c, and in special houses at 40⅛@40⅜c this and 40⅛c East side. No 3 slow at 39@39⅛c; difficult to realize over the inside rate. No 2 white sold this side at 44⅛@44⅝c, and East side at 45c.

Sales: In elevator—No 2—7 cars regular at 40⅛c, 1 in M at 40⅛c, 1 in F at 40⅛c; 2 in Union at 40⅛c. No 2 white—1 car in M at 44⅛c, 1 in do 44⅛c, 1 in U at 45c. No 3—1 car in M and 3 in C "B" at 39c, 3 in M at 39⅛c.

On track—No 2—3 cars East Side at 40⅛c. No 2 white—3 cars this side at 44⅛c, 3 East Side at 45c. No 3 white—1 car this side at 44⅛c.

SAMPLES—Sale ½ car mixed ungraded track this side at 41⅛c. Skd lots on orders 46@47c.

Oats—The future market was weak and declined. July offered on call at 31⅛c, bid 31c. Aug sold at 27⅛c and Sept at 27⅛c.

SPOT GRADES—No 2 offered regular at 32c, bid 30⅛c; No 3 at 31c, no bid.

SAMPLES—Received 127 sacks and 14 cars. Hardly anything doing in elevator stock, and trading in track offerings only fair. For the mixed grades, offerings of which were mainly Texas and new Missouri, prices were easier. For the white grades there was a fairly good local demand and for selections a slight advance was obtained, but the average run shows no improvement.

Sales: By sample in special bin—1 car No 2 at 31⅛c.

By sample on track—1 car new No 2 and 1 ungraded new mixed at 31⅛c, 1 No 3 at 32c, 1 do at 32⅛c, 1 thin No 3 white at 35⅛c, 1 old No 4 white at 35⅛c, 1 choice No 3 white and 1 ungraded white at 36⅛c, 1 No 2 white at 38c, 1 fancy do at 39c. Sacks—430 at 33c, 287 at 34c. Sacked lots on orders, 37@38c.

Rye—Lower on increased offerings and only a small demand. Sales of 2 cars No 2 this side were made at 44c, but more offered at 45c and could not be sold. A car that graded, as it was slightly mixed with wheat, only drew a bid of 42c.

Hay.

Received 790 tons; shipped 73 tons. The market remains in about the same dull condition. Trading was light and confined to a few local buyers, who were only looking for the best hay and then in limited quantities. Prices unchanged.

Sales: This side—1 car mixed large bales at $9. Timothy—New, 3 cars at $11, 1 at $11.50, 1 at $12; old, 1 car at $11, 1 at $11.50, 3 at $12, 2 at $12.50, 2 at $13. Prairie—Old, 1 car at $7.50; new, 1 car heated at $6, 1 do at $6.50, 7 at $7, 1 at $7.25, 4 at $7.50, 4 at $8. On Levee—40 bales timothy at $12.50. Straw—1 car wheat East side at $5, 2 do to arrive at $4.50.

MRS. RENGOLSKY'S DAUGHTER.

She Wants Her Bound Over to Keep the Peace.

Mrs. Rose Rengolsky, who conducts a notion store at 2008 South Broadway, called at the Four Courts to-day and wanted a police summons against one of her daughters, who lives with a tailor named Greenfield on Franklin avenue. Greenfield is married to one of Mrs. Rengolsky's daughters. It is said that this married daughter is rather opposed to her mother, and the latter claims that her unmarried daughter is influenced by Mrs. Greenfield, in order to oppose her mother. To such an extent has this alleged enmity gone that Mrs. Rengolsky claims her single daughter has threatened her life. Only recently, the mother claims, her unmarried daughter visited her place of business, and, after giving her a tongue-lashing, assaulted her and threw her to the floor. It is also alleged that Miss Rengolsky has been applying a sort of boycott to her mother's business, and on one occasion during her mother's absence, it is claimed, she visited the notion store and conducted herself in such a manner that she drove all the patrons away. Mrs. Rengolsky was referred to a justice of the peace, that she might swear out a warrant, in order to have her daughter bound over to keep the peace.

A Boat That Capsized in Sight of People on the Beach.

PORT ANGELES, Wash., July 18.—In a drowning accident near here J. W. Johnson, August Nelson and John Dippold lost their lives. The three left yesterday afternoon in a fishing boat for Dungeness Spit, four miles east of the city. Their boat capsized in view of people on the beach, who heard their cries for help, but having no boats could render no aid. Rescuing parties started out this morning. Eight miles east of this point Nelson was seen on the upturned bottom of a boat, 500 feet from shore, trying to paddle to the beach. On perceiving the rescuing party he sprang from the wreck and was drowned before their eyes. His companions had perished in the night.

A CLEAR CASE.

How Mr. Olney Juggles With the Anti-Trust Law.

The Attorney-General's Art Revealed in a Petition to Congress.

INVENTOR TUBMAN'S RIGHTS IGNORED BY A RAILWAY COMBINE.

Unavailing Appeal to the Department of Justice—Congress Is Now Asked to Prod Olney—But He Says the Anti-Trust Law Was Not Intended to Right the Wrongs of Individuals.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 18.—Senator Peffer of Kansas has filed a remarkable petition, drawn by William K. Tubman of Maryland, asking Congress to direct the Attorney-General to enforce the anti-trust law against a combination said to be composed of 800 railroad corporations and known as the Eastern Railroad Association. The petition was referred to the Senate Committee on Judiciary. Tubman is the inventor of an improvement in the construction of railway passenger coaches, the device which he patented nearly sixteen years ago, being a peculiar form of car window, in which the panels in the sides of the cars are set at angles with each other instead of in a straight line, so as to make a series of bay windows, which, it was claimed, materially improved the ventilation of the cars, increased the vision of the passengers and reduced the annoyance from dust and cinders.

Soon after securing his patent, the petitioner alleges, several railroad companies adopted the device, and put it into use without the payment of royalty, thereby infringing the petitioner's patent. Among those who used the improvement, Tubman declares was "one Sir George Pullman, who has accumulated a vast fortune from patented inventions, and has been and is now extensively infringing this patent and has never even replied to letters demanding of him to cease his infringment."

As soon as he secured proofs of the various infringements of his patent, Tubman began suits, he avers, against several railroad companies. In these actions, he was surprised to find that the railroad companies themselves did not appear directly as defendants. In each case, the railroad was represented by the counsel of the Eastern Railroad Association. Suits were brought by him against railroads in the North and other railroads in the South, but although they apparently had no other interest in common, they were defended in these actions exclusively by the attorneys of the association. Mr. Pullman, the petitioner avers, did not even take the trouble to make formal answer to the protests against the continued use of the Tubman devise but "hid behind the bulwarks of the Eastern Railroad Association."

Recognizing the futility of an attempt to fight an organization of the apparent strength of this association, Tubman alleges that he went to work to ascertain its scope and methods. He soon found, he says, that it included practically every railroad company in the eastern half of the United States, besides numerous construction companies, including that of the Pullman Palace Car Co. The association, he ascertained, was formed for the single purpose of defending its members against suits for the infringement of patents, and he supports this statement by an exhibit containing the full text of the constitution and by-laws of the association.

Realizing his inability to undertake to sustain a fight against this powerful association, Tubman asserts that he determined to appeal to the Attorney-General to restrain the association from further violation of the anti-trust law, on the grounds that the combination of the railroads for the purpose set forth in their constitution was under law a criminal conspiracy in restraint of trade. He therefore addressed a communication to Atty.-Gen. Olney asking that steps be taken to prosecute the association under the Sherman law. In reply he received a letter from Acting Atty.-Gen. Whitney which is set forth in the petition, in which the petitioner's request is denied, on the ground that the law was not made to be invoked by an individual.

"It may be," said the Acting Attorney General, "that this combination abuses its power, and as you aver, either reduces the royalty to a grossly inadequate figure or violates the patentee's rights altogether, relying upon its ability to tire him out in litigation. These evils, however, are not those which the anti-trust law was enacted to remedy. General considerations of public policy require that private parties, with ample remedies for the redress of their alleged wrongs in their own hands, are not to be encouraged to expect governmental interposition in their behalf."

Tubman was not a little discouraged at this rebuff, but addressed another letter to the Attorney-General in which he made an argument to meet the objections raised by Mr. Whitney.

"The petitioner believes," said Tubman in his petition to Congress, "that on the day of the filing of this paper, Atty.-Gen. Olney was in Boston, looking after the interests of the Boston & Maine Railroad, a member of the Eastern Railroad Association." Tubman was not surprised, therefore, that the Attorney-General should deny his second request, but he was hardly prepared for the excuses offered by the Attorney-General. Mr. Olney states that he is aware that the late Judge Billings had decided that, without the action of the Attorney-General, a private person could not secure relief in such cases, but adds: "His opinion, however, contains no reasons for the decisions, and it does not appeal to my judgment. I do not think that his decision alone should be controlling in a matter of such great magnitude. The Department of Justice has but a limited appropriation for the maintenance of suits, and it has never been considered that the Attorney-General should commence suit except with the belief that he had a fair prospect of winning it."

In closing his petition that Congress shall direct the Attorney-General to take up his case, Tubman says: "The public press of July 5, 1894, reports that the bill for an injunction against the strikers at Chicago filed in the United States Circuit Court and prepared under the direction of Atty.-Gen. Olney, is based on the Sherman anti-trust law. It thus appears that the Attorney-General, with his limited appropriation, is willing to direct the enforcement of sec. 4 of the act against common laborers, but refuses to enforce it to the detriment of railroad corporations."

Senator Peffer is very much interested in Mr. Tubman's case, and will make an early attempt to have the matter taken up for consideration by the Judiciary Committee.

Claims They Beat Her.

Mrs. Annie Buer swore out a summons in the Carondelet Police Court to-day against Adam and Mary Lyles, who were, she says, at one time her most intimate friends when they lived next door to her at No. 8315 Virginia avenue. Mrs. Buer claims that the Lyles family assaulted her and called her vile names. The case will be called on next Friday.

A Celebrated Case Ending.

BRISTOL, Tenn., July 18.—Dr. Bailey's motion to dismiss Receivers Haskell and Conklin of the South Atlantic & Ohio Railroad was dismissed in the Federal Court at Lynchburg. Col. Conklin was discharged at his own request. It is thought that this suit, which has almost caused bloodshed on two occasions, is nearing an end.

A $80,000 Fire.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 18.—Fire to-day destroyed the restaurant of John Keeler's Sons on State street, and badly damaged adjacent buildings by smoke. The total loss is about $80,000.

A CATHOLIC REVOLUTION.

Scheme of the Seceders From the Polish Church at Cleveland

CLEVELAND, O., July 18.—The seceders from the St. Stanislus Roman Catholic Polish Church contemplate a revolution in Roman Catholicism which shall be national if not world wide. They have appointed a Polish national church committee, and will issue a proclamation of dissatisfied Poles all over the United States, inviting them to flock to the standard of another church, which will probably be that of the Armenian Order.

Mr. Knowles, a priest of the church, is now in conference with the patriarch of Antioch seeking an appointment as Archbishop. If he succeeds he will probably appoint Rev. F. A. Kolaszewski, of this city, the head of the Polish seceders, a Bishop.

TWO COLLISIONS.

Damage Done by a Runaway Rig Owned by T. F. Mellis.

A horse attached to a one-horse furniture wagon, owned and driven by T. F. Mellis, a furniture dealer on Franklin avenue, became frightened on the Twelfth street bridge at a passing engine about 9 o'clock this morning and ran away going north. The vehicle collided with a covered spring wagon belonging to the Sisters of Charity at Ninth and Marion streets, in which were two Sisters and Tim Cleary, the driver. Mellis was thrown out and received some slight bruises. No one was injured in the Sisters' wagon, which was damaged about $10. The runaway next collided with a buggy, in which was W. F. Murphy, son of Jere Murphy, pork packer at 2615 Morgan street. Mr. Murphy's buggy was damaged $5. Officers McKeon and McClelland then caught the runaway and prevented further damage.

WOULD GIVE HER NO WATER.

So Mrs. Dzionski Had a Summons Issued for Henry Rock.

A police summons was issued to-day charging Henry Rock, proprietor of the premises 4339 Fairfax avenue, with disturbing the peace. Mrs. Bertha Dzionski is the complainant. She alleges that for some time past Rock has objected to her using the water of a cistern in such large quantities, and only recently, when she had drawn some water, claims he attacked and shook her and called her names. Since then, she claims, he has taken the crank off the well and rendered it impossible to draw water from it. Mrs. Dzonski asserts that last night her family had to go without supper.

OBSTRUCTS THE STREET.

Machinery Removed From a Wash Street House by a Constable.

The police of the Third District are puzzled to know what to do with a lot of machinery which is lying in the street on Wash street between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets. On July 5 Constable, Conway, armed with a writ of ejectment, put the machinery, which had belonged to F. C. Sanguinet, out of the premises of 1410, 1412 and 1414 Wash street. The machinery was placed in the street and it is said that every since it has been an obstruction of the thoroughfare. The Street Commissioner has been notified, but has taken no action. The ejectment was made on an attachment issued to the St. Louis National Bank, but neither this institution nor Sanguinet can be induced to move the machinery off the street. It is quite a nuisance to the public.

CHARGED WITH SLANDER.

The Row Over the Economy Printing Co. Results in a Warrant.

W. C. Dines, proprietor of the Economy Printing Co., 1118 Pine street, called at the Four Courts to-day, accompanied by Attorney J. J. Donohue, and caused a warrant to be issued, charging F. T. Shores with criminal slander. Yesterday Shores applied for a warrant against Dines, alleging that Dines had sold out the Economy Printing Co. to him for $2,000 worth of promissory notes, and that after he had conducted it awhile and endeavored to make some changes, he learned, so he claimed, that Foreman Sturgess had a mortgage on the plant and interposed objections, and he stepped out. Then Shores claimed he was met with a notification from two men that Dines intended to sell the notes he had given him. Mr. Dines now claims that Shores has slandered him, insomuch as he has caused the printing of a circular denouncing the Economy Printing Co. and the Dolan Real Estate Co., composed of H. P. Dolan and W. C. Dines, as fraudulent concerns.

DEATH ENDS A ROMANCE.

Mr. Wm. Miller, Who Died in Baltimore, Would Soon Have Been Married.

Mrs. Kate Firth and her daughter, Miss Minnie Firth, arrived home from Washington, D. C., on Saturday, accompanying the remains of Mr. Wm. Miller. His death brings to a sad ending a romance which promised a much happier conclusion. Ten months ago, Mrs. Miller, Miss Firth's cousin, died in the capital, simultaneously with her aunt, the late Miss Lydie Yore, whose demise occurred in St. Louis. Mrs. Firth and her daughter were visiting there at the time, and did all in their power to console and assist the bereaved widower, remaining there some time after the funeral. Mr. Miller's gratitude merged into an attachment, and last April Mr. Miller and Miss Firth became engaged. The lady's trousseau was all prepared and she and her mother went East a short time since, arrangements having been made for the wedding to take place in September, which would have been about a year from the time of the death of the first wife. The ceremony was to have been performed in Baltimore at the home of a relative, and all parties were visiting there, when the groom elect, who was a man of about 60 years old, was taken suddenly very ill, while waiting to take his fiance out for a drive, and it is said, he just lived a sufficient length of time to make a will leaving whatever means he possessed to Miss Firth. The interment took place in Calvary Cemetery.

Mrs. Harris Got Jealous.

Mrs. Fannie Ford recently bought a saloon at Bacon and Magazine streets. She has a bar-tender named Harris. Mrs. Harris got jealous of Mrs. Ford, went to the saloon, hammered Mrs. Ford with an umbrella and smashed a show-case. This morning Mrs. Harris was a prisoner in the Second District Police Court. The hearing was postponed until July 20.
